Santa's coming to Romulus

Santa Claus will arrive in Romulus at 7 p.m. on Fri., Dec. 3 to help in this city's annual Christmas Tree lighting ceremonies.

On hand to greet the special guest will be Mayor William Oakley, council members, members of the city administration, and a host of dignitaries along with the children and residents of the community.

There will also be a "special child" on hand to switch on the colorful Christmas Tree lights. Children will have an opportunity to meet and talk with Santa, and citizens are welcomed to join in the singing of carols.

...and to Huron on December 5th

The Huron Township Recreation Committee will hold its annual Tree Lighting Ceremony at 7 p.m., Sun., Dec. 5 across from the Township Hall. Residents of the township are invited to share song and friendship as the lights are turned on.

Timmy Chihan has been selected for the unique honor of turning the lights on. Afterward, there will be free coffee, hot chocolate and cookies, donated by the residents of the township.

Oh yes, Santa will also be there.

Arts & Crafts show scheduled

The Romulus Civic League will present its "Arts & Crafts Show & Sale" on two days beginning Saturday and ending on Sunday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the Romulus Civic Center, 11495 Wahrman Road.

Chairman of the show is Willie Hester who says that there are still some table rentals available. Hester may be contacted at the following numbers: 941-0141 or 941-1686. Further information may be obtained by telephoning 941-4851 or 941-4612.

Van Buren hosts show

Get into the spirit of Christmas early this year by shopping at the Van Buren Township's 6th annual Christmas Arts & Crafts Show.

The show will be held from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturday, and also from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Sunday at the township hall facilities located at 46425 Tyler Road. The event is sponsored by the parks and recreation department.

There will be a wide range of holiday decorations, gifts, and every day household items available for purchase. Rec. officials say "Don't wait to do your Christmas shopping until the last days. The show offers bargains on gifts."

Voters to decide 'crisis millage'

Dr. Bedell: 'Schools, teachers, kids suffered enough'

Residents in the Romulus Community School District will go to the polls on Monday to vote on two separate millage proposals that, if approved, would help keep the schools financially solvent, according to school officials.

Voters will be deciding whether to increase property taxes by an additional three mills which are "desperately needed for the operation of our schools," said Dr. William Bedell, Superintendent of Schools.

They will also have to decide whether to approve a one mill levy earmarked for general maintenance and school repairs.

"Without these mills the school district and the children who attend schools here will continue to suffer," Dr. Bedell warned. "The school board has worked long and hard to find solutions to our problems."

"The teachers in this district have suffered — we do understand the frustration and bitterness there is behind the latest decision to roll back their salaries — and the children have had to do without programs that are deemed vital for an all-around education.

"I sincerely believe it is up to the residents now to face up to the responsibilities and obligations of educating children who will be our future leaders. We can't come up with any more miracles. It's up to each and every citizen now."

Earlier this year the Romulus teachers accepted a "pay freeze" on wages in the 1982-83 fiscal year. But, faced with more than a $500,000 deficit, the board said they were forced to roll back teacher salaries across-the-board by approximately 20 percent.

Romulus presently levies 39.90 mills for running the school system; far below those of neighboring Wayne-Westland (47.69), Cherry Hill (45.95) and Taylor (44.95). One mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation of property.

There are approximately 269 teachers and 5,000 students in the school system.

Dr. Bedell made it emphatically clear that the additional millage is "absolutely critical for the schools". He stressed that poor schools cheat and hurt everyone.

"First, poor schools lead to declining property values," Dr. Bedell added, "therefore, homeowners lose. Poor schools also cheat students who will not receive the kind of education that will make them competitive with their peers in other school districts."

"I know times are hard," Dr. Bedell said. "But we'll all be losers if these millage proposals go down in defeat."

The polls will open at 7 a.m. on Monday and close at 8 p.m.

March of the Tin Soldiers

Thanks to Belleville's John Austec's generosity, residents of Belleville's Convalescent Home were recently treated to a "command performance" by the Belleville High Marching Band. Austec won a raffle sponsored by the band boosters. The prize was a performance by the band, which Austec donated to the residents. "We really enjoyed these young musicians, and the high school should be proud to have such talented young people," one resident of the home was overheard to say.

Gets township planner, too

Sumpter hires new attorney

There has been a changing of the guard, of sorts, at Sumpter Township Hall.

The township board last week voted to release its township attorney and planner from further obligations and responsibilities and hired in two new faces.

The shake-up left former township attorney, Ronald Witthoff, out, and put into the forefront attorney Louis Wechsler.

"I feel that we were all taken by surprise by this move," said Township Supervisor Jim Reeves. "Mr. Witthoff handled the litigation in the City Sand and Landfill case and came out a winner. I don't see why we had to change horses, as the saying goes, in the middle of the stream."

City Sand and Landfill owners have applied for a toxic waste permit. They have failed, however, to receive state approval.

Township treasurer Clarence Hoffman, who joined with Louis Banotai, John Morgan and Virgil Humphreys to cast the majority vote for the change, pointed out that the four trustees wanted a change.

"This is a different administration and we wanted someone else to handle our legal affairs," Hoffman said.

Voting to retain the former legal counsel and planner were Reeves, and trustees Mike Huziak and Floyd Bevins.

Does IRS owe you a refund?

The Internal Revenue Service is trying to locate area residents who are due tax refunds from their local 1981 federal income tax returns. The IRS believes most of these taxpayers moved or changed their last names during the year and failed to notify the Postal Service or the IRA.

Among local and area recipients of IRS checks include Larry J. Barnes of Romulus.

Taxpayers should contact the IRS at 800-482-0670 to claim their refund.

Romulus tax bills will be delayed

Tax bills for the winter collection will be late this year, according to Romulus city treasurer Beverly McAnally.

"Tax bills are customarily computed and printed sometime in November," Mrs. McAnally explained, "and they are in the hands of the taxpayers by December 1. However, this year it may be as late as the last week in December before tax bills can be mailed."

"Unfortunately, there is always an opportunity for someone's computer to malfunction or staff reductions with the county to affect preparations."

Mrs. McAnally added that in the past City council has extended the final deadline for payment of taxes from February 14 to February 28.

"And I am sure they will consider doing this again this year," she said.

A special school election, permitted by recent state legislation, will be conducted on Dec. 6. Following certification of the election and notification to the Bureau of Taxation, the tax bills will be computed by Wayne County and remitted to the city for processing and mailing.

From Attorney General

City, council await opinion on state audit

While the city's administration and council await the findings of the Attorney General's Office on which direction, if any, it will take on the recently completed audit, two members of Romulus's government last week spoke up on the results of the state audit.

State auditors recently completed the audit of the city's Water Debt Retirement Fund and in their conclusions pointed out that the city owes the fund $2,126,000.

Where the city would find the more than $2 million to transfer to the fund, if ordered to by law, is a question that is moot at present.

In a statement by City Treasurer Beverly McAnally, she says she isn't surprised at the auditors' conclusions.

"The State Auditor's preliminary report, covering the years 1958-81, confirms the questions I raised during the years I served on the city council concerning the financial manipulations and record-keeping of the city."

"In 1979 I ran for the office of Treasurer to begin to correct some of the more glaring practices that I had identified and to attempt to bring the city into compliance with sound and accepted accounting principals."

"During the years I have served the city I had watched a series of auditing firms spend weeks and months constructing financial data in order to have something upon which to base an audit."

"Many of those audits pointed out problem areas that are also cited by the State Auditor. Unfortunately, most of the past city councils did not identify the problems as serious and directions were not approved for corrections."

"Because of the difficulty of conducting an audit in Romulus, it was common for the procedure to take so long that it would be past time for a new audit with the prior year not yet completed due to a lack of properly compiled records. This year, in contrast, the audit of the city's records is already complete and the report should be in the hands of the city council sometime in December, indicating the progress we have made in keeping good records."

"This is more remarkable in that it was done with a computer that malfunctioned for three years and is inadequate for the city's needs."

"I am not sure what the goal of this audit has been and I do not wish to criticize the findings except to say that some do not correspond with available records."

"My greatest hope is that the people of Romulus will not be expected to bear additional tax burdens to make up for the shortages caused by inept fiscal management of the past 20 years and that they suffer no curtailment of services to recover improperly used funds," Mrs. McAnally's statement concluded.

BEVERLY McANALLY

The audit was conducted by John Tate and Al Auch, of the Michigan Department of Treasury who were asked to review the city's records by State Rep. Edward Mahalak. Mahalak was brought into the picture by councilman Jimmie Raspberry who wanted to "settle the issue of co-mingling of funds and the status of the Water Debt Fund once and for all."

Raspberry, also in a statement, said that: "I have been fighting with the present and past administrations and council persons for years to try to correct what the Water & Sewer Analysis projected as well as being advised by the City Attorney and CPA over the period of years as to the status of this matter prior to the fiscal years of 1981-1982 when it was necessary to complete (See AUDIT, Page A-3)

Police seek clues in Wayne man's murder

Victim's family offers $5,000 reward

Wife Westland and Pittsfield police continue the search for the man or men who killed a Wayne resident, the family has posted a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murders.

Timothy A. Greenfield, a Wayne resident who had been missing since Nov. 10, has been found.

The body of the 24-year-old

Wayne man was found Monday afternoon in the trunk of the car he had been driving when last seen, in the parking lot of a Pittsfield Township apartment complex.

Greenfield was last seen by his brother James about 7:30 a.m. Nov. 10, when he left his home to check out several video game machines. Greenfield, who with James were the owners of unique Video Games, reportedly was carrying $7,000 at the time of his disappearance.

According to his brother, who reported him missing to Westland Police on Nov. 11, Timothy had said he would be back in 20 minutes. However, he failed to show up for an 8 a.m. businessmen's breakfast and missed a concert in Detroit later that evening.

James was unable to provide police officers with the names and addresses of persons his brother might have had contact with on that day, although he did contact police soon after filing the missing report to indicate that foul play may have been involved.

The Greenfield family, well-known in Western Wayne County for its political and community activities, hired a private investigator in the search for Timothy.

It wasn't until Sunday, when a stolen car, bearing the license plates off the 1980 Chevrolet Monte Carlo he had been driving, was recovered in the Washtenaw County township, that the search was narrowed to the area east of Ypsilanti.

Family members were driving in the area and used the parking lot of the Windover Apartments to turn around when the Monte Carlo was spotted. Pittsfield Township Police were notified of the discovery and a possible homicide at about 12:25 p.m. Greenfield's body was found in the trunk at about 1:45 p.m.

An autopsy was performed last Tuesday according to a spokesman for the Pittsfield Township Police Department. Greenfield had been shot twice in the back of the head by what was, police said, a 38 caliber revolver.

In Van Buren schools

Should hot lunches be discontinued?

Should the Van Buren Public Schools discontinue the district's hot lunch program?

That's one of the major questions which will be debated beginning at 7:30 p.m., Thurs., Dec. 2 when the Van Buren Public Schools' Citizens Advisory Council meets.

The meeting will be held in the Board Room of the Administration Building at 555 W. Columbia Ave.

Also on the agenda will be a budget review package presented by the school district's business manager, Jack Hosmer, and the discussion of the issues of establishing an early childhood education center with all preschool and kindergarten children attending one school.

The Citizens' Advisory Council is an open forum for discussion of current school topics, and all residents in the school district are welcome to participate.

Clean-up, fix-up adds value

Homeowners anticipating a move as economic recovery improves the housing market are advised to get their present property in top sales condition.

With a high number of current listings and a general easing of prices, strong competition and a buyer's market will persist in 1983, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of REALTORS (WWOCBR).

"Buyers will continue to search for value," said Lloyd Mason, WWOCBR president. "Some will be seeking homes in need of extensive repair that can be bought at rock bottom prices."

"But the majority will be seeking homes that won't require any added outlay of funds after down payment, closing costs and moving expenses are met."

Mason advises against extensive remodeling that will increase the asking price, but does urge that care be taken to assure everything is in good working order.

"As time approaches when the home will be listed for sale, the seller should try to look at it from a prospective buyer's view," he said. "Such a look will likely uncover numerous small items, that would cause loss of buyer interest, but would only take minimum cost to correct."

Included might be cracked window glass, peeling paint, broken or missing knobs or locks, loose tile or siding, torn screens and leaky faucets.

"Most homeowners can take care of these minor problems themselves," Mason said, "but might prefer to have carpets and drapes professionally cleaned."

"This pre-listing period also is a good time to start clearing unneeded items out of basements, garages and closets. Items with some value might be disposed of in a yard sale or at a flea market. Other accumulated material can be given away or left for trash pick-up bit by bit over several weeks."

Mason notes that particular attention should be given to fix-up measures that will help cut heating and cooling costs. Much of this type of expenditure can be claimed for income tax credit and receipts should be saved.

"Recent studies of overall housing costs in major metropolitan areas indicate utility costs add more than 20 percent to average mortgage principal and interest payments locally," he said. "Sellers who can show they have taken steps to weatherproof their homes and have utility cost records to prove their effectiveness will score a big plus with buyers."

"The waning days of fall still permit time to make exterior repairs to the home and planted areas so they will give a good first impression whatever the season," Mason added.

How many other gifts come with a lifetime guarantee?

It's no wonder the Parker Arrow makes such a lasting impression—it comes with a lifetime guarantee.

The dramatic matte black ball pen is touched off with 22K gold electroplate trim. And it writes up to five miles with every refill.

The matching pencil uses a thin, tough-to-snap .7 mm lead—for a smoother, finer line.

Which all goes to prove the Arrow would make a terrific gift—even if it didn't come with a lifetime guarantee.

Homeowners to receive copies of tax bills

Homeowners with mortgages will receive copies of their tax bills this year for the first time, according to Romulus city treasurer Beverly McAnally.

"To bring the city into compliance with recent legal opinions from the Attorney General's office and to give all homeowners an opportunity to appeal to the March Board of Review if they wish to protest their taxes, we have prepared a special copy of tax bills for those who pay their taxes through a bank or mortgage company," McAnally said.

The bills are specially marked "Do Not Pay", to avoid confusion when taxpayers receive copies of their bills that they have not seen before because they have customarily been sent only to the mortgage holders.

Coal + water = electricity

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

It is doubtful that Benjamin Franklin knew what he would be creating that day more than 200 years ago, when he dangled a key from a kite during an electrical storm to see what would happen.

From such simple beginnings, the manufacture of electricity has grown into a billion-dollar business, so entrenched in our lives that the sudden loss of it strikes fear in the hearts of most.

Electricity is something Detroit Edison knows well. With 10 power plants, ringing the eastern edge of Michigan from Lake Erie to Lake Huron — from Monroe County to the Thumb area — it manufactures much of the electricity consumed in southeastern Michigan.

While its premiere power plant, the nuclear-powered Enrico Fermi II, won't come on line until late next year, it is plants like the sprawling Monroe Power Plant that is presently meeting customers' needs — kilowatt hour for kilowatt hour.

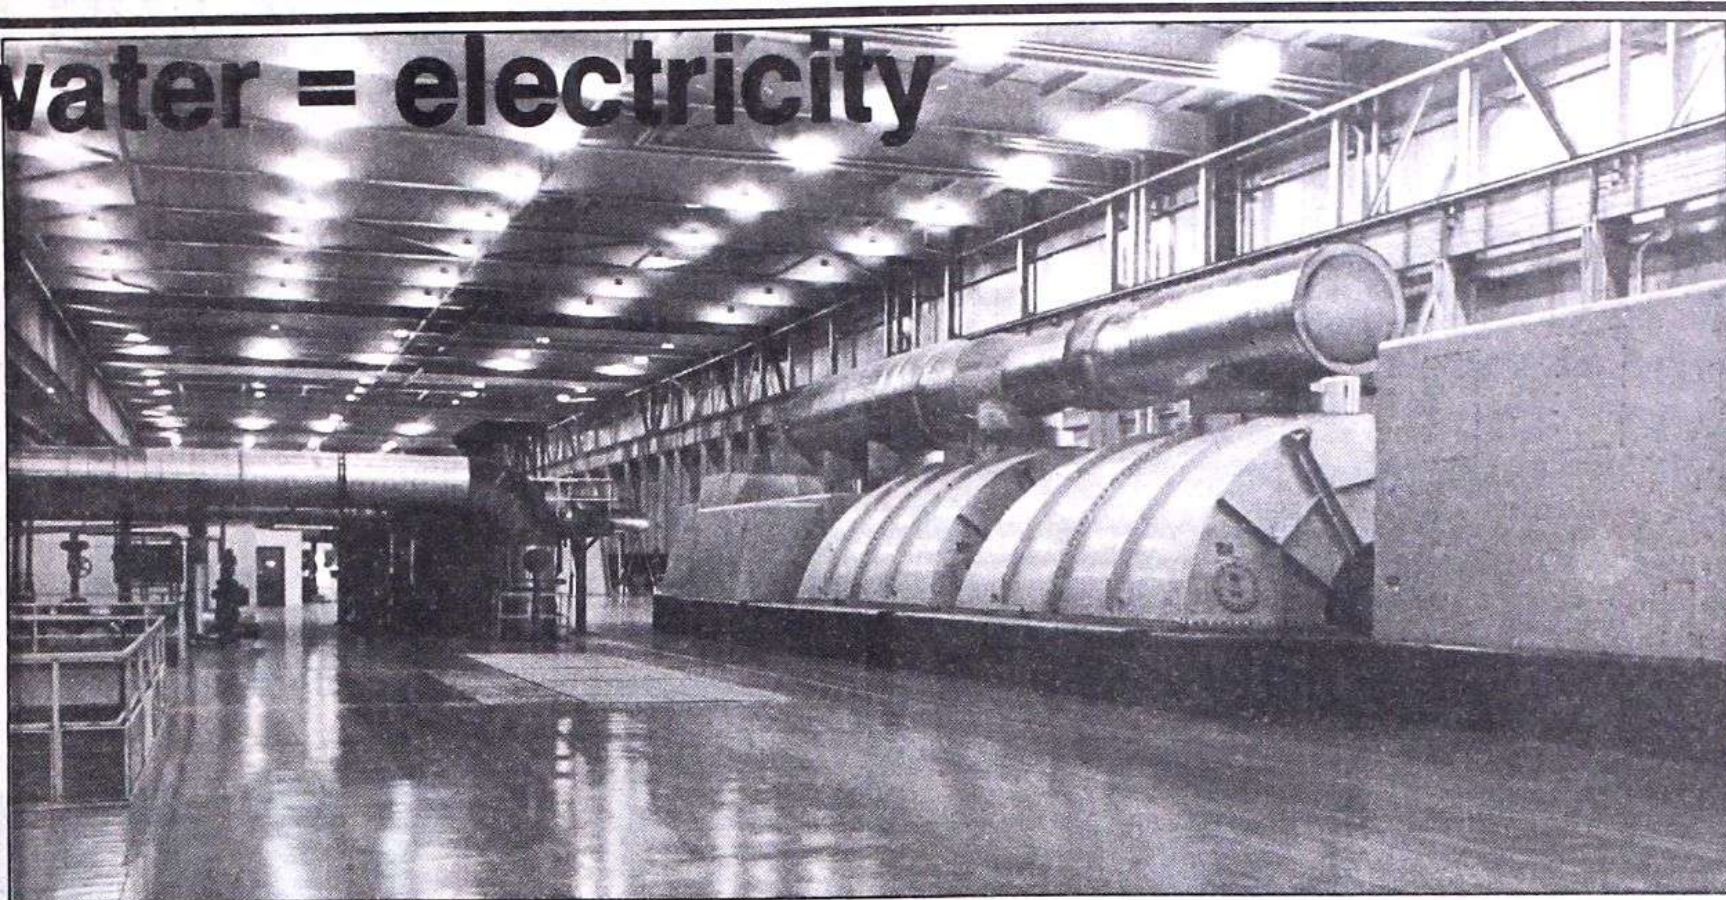

Situated on the banks of Lake Erie at the mouth of the Raisin River, the Monroe Power Plant at one time was the largest coal-powered electricity-generating plant in the world. It now ranks third, but remains the largest within the United States.

Its massive turbines, four in all, are capable of producing 3,000 megawatts of electricity a day, enough energy to meet the needs of just industry in southeastern Michigan. In fact, just one of the four turbine-generator units are larger than the entire Rouge River Power Plant Downriver.

More than six million tons of coal a year are used to stoke the four furnaces that provide the steam to turn the turbines. An average daily coal consumption ranges from 20,000 to 25,000 tons, depending on the demand.

To the consumer, those figures are staggering, but for the 600 workers at the Monroe plant its all in a day's work. It's all a part of blending into the Edison electrical network that criss-crosses the southeastern portion of the state.

While there are no secrets to generating electricity, there re plenty of fine points that Edison has mastered over the years, fine points that to the average Edison customer would more so be classified as trivia.

For instance, Edison uses a blend of high- and low-sulphur coals, which are stored on individual stockpiles beside the complex until being transferred into silos for use during the production before being mixed with air and blown into the furnace. The powdery coal is more combustible and burns hotter — about 2,800 degrees in the burning zone of the furnace.

Water, traveling through pipes in the furnace is turned into steam and forced through valves into the high range of the turbine. In that section, blades measure four to five feet in height. As the steam electricity. From there it is transferred to transformers that distributes the electricity to a grid network before sending the electricity through the Edison system.

While many may consider electricity production utilizing coal a dirty business, smoke released from the plants towering stacks, contains only .3 percent ash. The remainder is removed by an elec-safety and maintenance, due slowly to the type of fuel used.

The largest single taxpayer in Monroe County, the utility also is making a commitment to a better economic climate in its service area through area development to retain and bring in new industry.

"We are going to be doers, because of the tremendous investment we have in Monroe County," McCartney said. "Half of our assets are here, in Monroe County."

To that end Edison will be relocating two of its senior people, including James Jones, regional representative for community and governmental affairs in the Wayne-Monroe Division, to offices in Monroe County.

The utility also is looking to Michigan's future, tagging the 1990s as boom years, and to choke off the drain of money to outside the state, has filed an application with the federal government to continue burning 2 percent sulfur coal.

"With our past experience and with no violation or environmental pollution standards, we feel it's not necessary to go to one percent sulfur," McCartney said, during of energy.

There are seven silos for each of the four furnaces, each containing between a six- and eight-hour supply of coal, depending on customer demand. Silos are refilled twice a day, when indicators in the control room show the supply dipping below 40 percent capacity.

The coal itself is crushed to the consistency of fine talcum powder expends its energy it moves into the intermediate portion of the turbine, where it burns blades measuring six to eight feet high.

Its final push is the low portion of the turbine, where it turns two even larger sets of blades, before being pumped through a condenser and recycled to the furnace.

The whirling of the turbine powers the generator, which produces trostat predipitor and deposited in a settling pond for possible reclamation later.

Each of the four units has its own set of controls — between 12 to 15 — feeding into a control center manned by just two Edison supervisors.

Years ago that center required a lot more employees, but the computer age has changed all that by monitoring the systems. The computer makes a lot of the decisions on the operation of the units, even tripping the system if it senses a problem that has gone un-

"This plant exemplifies the idea of a central power station. The 3,000 megawatts it generates could run all the industry in southeastern Michigan."

There's only one supervisor at the controls of two units power of the Monroe Power Plant, but there's plenty of back up thanks to the computer age. The light boards indicate how the system is operating, while a separate area off the control room indicates how full the seven coal silos are at any given point during the work day.

Area man arrested on sex charge

The recent arrest of a 21-year-old Canton man has enabled area police departments to mark as solved dozens of previously unsolved sexual assault and burglary cases.

Gregory Selix, a suspect in several criminal sexual conduct cases and nearly 80 break-ins in Canton and Westland alone, is being held in Wayne County Jail in lieu of $200,000 bond.

According to police, Selix is also a suspect in one rape and 24 burglaries in Livonia, as well as break-ins which took place in Plymouth, Redford Township and Northville.

Officer Laura Moore of the Westland detective bureau said Selix has been charged with two felonies. One is a combined warrant for breaking and entering and first-degree criminal sexual conduct, she said, while the other count accuses him of breaking and entering with the intent to commit criminal sexual conduct.

In the latter case, Moore said, Selix allegedly entered a home through the unlocked front door, but was driven off by the family dog before taking anything. Prior to entering, he allegedly knocked on the woman's bedroom window to awaken her, then made lewd gestures, Moore said.

Moore said that in the other case Selix allegedly jimmied open a locked door and assaulted a woman with a sexual device. The attack apparently was not physically violent, she said.

ly with the Balance Budget Act.

"And this administration at this time recommended that the council transfer approximately $2 million from the Water Contract to the Sewer Debt Fund deficit which occurred over a period of years and council concurred with myself voting 'no' and another member abstaining.

"I also believe that the scope of the audit should be expanded to include total Water & Sewer operations, which I believe would reveal fraud, wastes and inefficiency."

"I would recommend that the Attorney General take appropriate action, if necessary, in order to protect the taxpayers of Romulus in seeing that all monies are accounted for and that the Bond payments in escrow and surplus construction funds be used to retire bonds only. This would eliminate the necessity of reinstatement of future millage to the taxpayers," Raspberry concluded.

Strike up the band

With John Austec (at left) as its "guest of honor", Belleville High's Marching Band Director Diane Craven brings alive the music that pays tribute to the man who won the BHS fundraiser raffle. Austec's prize was a command performance by the band, which he immediately donated to the handicapped and the residents of the Belleville Convalescent Home. Like most school programs, music and the marching band have fallen on hard times because of the ill economic winds. In order to survive the budget cuts, band boosters have plotted several fundraisers.

Although in unfamiliar environs, the Belleville High School's Marching Band came up with some familiar tunes at the Belleville Convalescent Home to help cheer up and entertain its residents, who were treated by Getting involved in the community and with the residents, Dr. Kundan Sata (at left) decided that she would sponsor a children's color picture contest and the results produced were most gratifying for a score of children who managed not only to win prizes but to also meet the Mayor of Romulus, William Oakley (at

Yugoslavian 'plays Santa'

Abused, orphaned children receive timely Christmas gift

Charlie (no last names please) and his 35 or 40 buddies at the D. J. Healy Home for orphaned and abused children may have a 'neeto' Christmas thanks to a 73-year-old obscure Yugoslavian immigrant by the name of Stanley Zlojtro.

Stanley died recently while vacationing in his native land leaving some $40,000 to Wayne County. Stanley was a firm believer in "leaving your money where you earn it" and he earned it working for the Ford Motor Company. He also planned ahead. He had filed his will with Probate Court in 1960 setting aside two certificates—$25,000 and $13,000 (plus interest) for the county and funds to take care of his family, a funeral and a monument.

Caroline Carson, a member of the County's Corporation Counsel staff, has been named Executrix of the estate and will file a petition, within a few days, to have the money released.

"I think Mr. Zlojtro would want his money to be spent helping other unfortunate youngsters and, believe me, the holidays look very bleak for those youngsters at the D. J. Healy Home."

Although the Home has been funded until January 31, 1983, the County Board of Auditors has recommended its closing in an effort to balance the 1982-83 budget. A special Child Care Services Alternatives Committee, Chaired by Commissioner Kay Beard, is seeking other sources of funding to assure the Home's continued operation. The skimpy budget means a precarious holiday season for the children.

Little seems to be known of Mr. Zlojtro. His attorney, John S. Gavran, who drew up the original will, said his documents indicate Zlojtro was born in Yugoslavia December, 1907 and came to the US as a poor immigrant boy with high hopes of making his fortune in the promised land. He was naturalized October 4, 1955, lived at 3044 Salina Ave., Dearborn, was married and had two boys Ostaja Stamatovic and Milan Zdradkovic. There is no record of his wife and both sons live in Yugoslavia in the counties of Nuriye and Pozderca. Later in life, Stanley moved in with his brother in Detroit where he remained until his unexpected death in Yugoslavia December 2, 1980.

"Mr. Zlojtro made elaborate arrangements for his funeral," Gavran recalls. "He set aside funds for burial and a monument. Apparently his funeral was similarly arranged for in Yugoslavia because none of the money would be to the county was required. After his death his one son, Ostaja, came to my office from Yugoslavia, told me of the demise of his father, and said I should send his clothing, jewelry and a typewriter to the American Red Cross."

"The will stressed that the money should be used in any manner the administrator sees fit," Mrs. Carson said. "I think those poor youngsters at the D. J. Healy Home need help more than anyone else... and I certainly don't want it just dropped into the general fund of the county."

Charlie and his friends will like that.

Against drunk drivers

MADD to stage candle light vigil

The Wayne County chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) will hold a Candle light vigil at 9 p.m. on Sat., Dec. 11, in front of the City-County Building in downtown Detroit, at Woodward and Jefferson.

The names of all who have been killed so far in 1982 in alcohol related crashes will be read. All concerned citizens, surviving victims of alcohol related crimes, and others concerned about this terrible crime are urged to attend and to bring with them a candle to be lighted during the vigil.

At that same hour, MADD's 92 chapters in 32 other states will be holding similar vigils on the eve of the start of National Drunk Driver Awareness Week, December 12-18, 1982.

The event was authorized by the U.S. Congress and proclaimed by President Reagan as a way to alert the public during the festive holiday season to the lethal dangers of combining alcohol, drugs, and driving. In Michigan alone we have been killing an average of 2 people every single day and injuring 70 more in alcohol related crimes on the highway.

The purpose of the vigil is to remember those who have been lost and to re-dedicate ourselves to educate the public to this terrible crime, to work to eliminate drunk drivers from the roads, and to support the surviving victims.

During the ensuing week of December 12-18, all are urged to drive with headlights turned ON indicating their personal commitment to eradicating alcohol related crashes and crimes from Michigan's roadways and by not drinking and driving themselves.

For Goodfellows' packages

Belleville canned food drive is picking up momentum

Although the food drive is receiving excellent response, the Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce reports that "there is a greater need for more canned food than ever this year."

"We have had more calls for assistance this year than I can ever remember," said Leona Van-Buhler, Chamber secretary. "We have a lot of people out of work."

Canned food is being sought for Christmas parcels which will be delivered by the local Goodfellows. Those who wish to contribute may drop off the food at various points.

Collection points in the city include: Bud's TV Store, Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center on Sumpter Road, Dick's Wood Insurance and Crystal's Hair Fashions on Main Street.

Other drop off points are Wayne County Community College on Hagerty Road and the Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce offices on Main Street.

The students in the Van Buren Elementary Schools also are participating in the food drive. Boxes have been set up at the schools in the principals' offices.

To reconnect

MichCon relaxes policy

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company President Harold J. Mellen, Jr. today announced a new policy for reconnecting gas service to customers who were shut off this summer because of unpaid bills.

"This new policy will help many disadvantaged, responsible customers receive service before winter sets in," Mellen said. "Because of the continuing depressed economy in Michigan, we are exploring every reasonable method we can find to help customers through this difficult period."

MichCon normally requires full payment of past due bills, a deposit and a reconnect charge to re-establish service to customers.

For a limited time the new reconnect policy allows shut off customers to pay a portion of the past due bills and work out a settlement agreement of up to 12 months for the balance. A deposit and reconnect charge will remain in effect.

To participate in the plan, customers must have demonstrated a serious effort to pay bills before service was shut off.

Customers interested in participating in this plan should visit a MichCon business office to make the necessary arrangements. The program expires December 31, 1982.

"Increasing natural gas prices and difficult economic times in Michigan have combined to create heavy burdens for many of our customers. While we develop programs for our customers in Michigan, we are taking action at the federal level to address reasonable costs of natural gas with Congress and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission," Mellen added.

MichCon currently provides winter shutoff protection for customers over 60 years old, customers with medical emergencies and customers who are working with the Company to clear up past due bills.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company serves over one million customers in Michigan.

WOMC, Regional Center: 'Christmas is for kids'

This year, WOMC-FM will conduct "Christmas Is For Kids" on behalf of the developmentally disabled residents and clients of the Southgate Regional Center.

The State of Michigan, under the Department of Mental Health, operates SRC as a residential center for about 160 mentally retarded individuals. In addition, the center directly supervises the care of close to 500 other mentally handicapped people who live with foster parents or in group home settings in Wayne and Monroe counties.

Early in November, WOMC air personalities Nick Arama, Dave Lockhart, Jim Davis and Gene Kruszewski visited Southgate Regional Center to record the Christmas wishes of the most needy clients from the center, group homes and foster care homes under SRC supervision.

Starting Monday, December 6 through Friday, December 10, the requests will be broadcast each day from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. WOMC listeners will then be asked to purchase the gift, wrap it, and deliver it to the radio station in Ferndale.

In addition to the 45 most needy, WOMC will try to secure gifts for close to 500 other people living at the center, in group homes or with foster parents.

Cash donations will be used to provide special recreational activities and badly needed therapeutic equipment.

After all gifts have been received at WOMC, they will be taken to Southgate Regional Center for a special CHRISTMAS IS FOR KIDS party on Friday, December 17.

All donors are invited to attend the party and, if they desire, present their gift in person. (Time of the party will be announced.)

Sgt. Look is decorated with Air Force Commendation

Tech. Sgt. Kathryn K. Look, daughter of Elbert and Illene Mullikin of Rural Route 1, Wauzeka, Wis., has been decorated with the third award of the Air Force Commendation Medal at Cameron Station, Va.

The Air Force Commendation Medal is awarded to those individuals who demonstrate outstanding achievement or meritorious service in the performance of their duties on behalf of the Air Force.

Look, a transportation specialist, is a 1970 graduate of Wauzeka High School.

Her husband, Norman, is the son of Kenneth and Evelyn Look of 22038 Chevillie Road, Romulus.

Airman Kipper A. Bray, son of Phyllis Bray of 10688 Buchanan St., Belleville, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft maintenance training course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course were trained in aircraft maintenance, repair and service, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Bray will now serve at Griffis Air Force Base, N.Y.

He is a 1980 graduate of Belleville High School.

Jeffrey A. Ott, son of Betty J. Sears of 6451 Cooper, Taylor, and Lawrence A. Ott of 91139 Borgman, Belleville, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Ott is an avionics systems specialist with the 57th Aircraft Generation Squadron at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

He is a 1980 graduate of Taylor Center High School.

His wife, Donna, is the daughter of Keith J. and Patricia Gonyon of 6422 Banner, also of Taylor.

Army National Guard Pvt. Garwin J. Nutt, son of Jerry L. and Arlene E. Nutt of 17725 Savage, Belleville, has completed an Army metalworker course at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Students received instruction in all phases of oxyacetylene, arc and inert metal welding. They also learned to identify and use hand tools, measuring instruments and power tools, and to identify metals.

WC3 wants you to shape up

Do pleasurable activities and physical fitness have anything in common?

The workout at Wayne County Community College's Aerobic Dance Class scheduled to start January 18 provides both pleasure and fitness, according to Ellen Odouski, instructor of the course.

Aerobics are designed to tone muscles and provide cardiovascular needs to dance and exercise, choreographed to popular songs.

Offered by WC3 Community Services and Continuing Education for the past two semesters, Aerobic Dance has been among the most popular adult education courses at the Western Center located at 9555 Haggerty Road, Belleville.

Other Community Services and Continuing Education courses to be offered this semester include Introduction to Micro Computers, Rapid Reading and Assertiveness Training.

Registration is underway and will continue through December 3 by mail. Regular walk-in registration will resume after the Christmas Holiday from January 5 through January 24.

Persons wishing to enroll at WC3 for the Winter Semester should pick up a class schedule at any WC3 Campus or call for information at 699-0220.

Raffle to aid Belleville's needy

The Van Buren-Belleville Chamber of Commerce's Christmas Raffle ticket sales will help the area's needy and provide a score of lucky winners beautiful prizes.

Lucky winners will receive color TV sets, dinner for eight at local restaurants, $50 shopping sprees, an escape for a weekend and many other prizes, according to Leona VanBuhler, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Tickets for the Christmas raffle will be sold the day of the parade and may be obtained from the Chamber Offices on Main Street.

The drawing will take place on Dec. 10.

It's poinsettia time

What better gift for the holiday seasons than a poinsettia?

That's what the Belleville United Presbyterian Church, 11900 Belleville Road, is offering at a price of $6.50. The traditional Christmas flower is available in red, white and pink.

Members of the congregation will be selling the flowers from their C.E. Building, located at 11900 Belleville Rd., beginning at 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Sat., Dec. 4; on Sun., Dec. 12 from 11:30 to 3 p.m. and Sat., Dec. 18 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Voters have tough decisions to make

Just when voters thought they were going to get a rest, a handful of millage proposals pop up that will send them back to the polls.

Wayne, Westland, Romulus and Plymouth-Canton residents are all faced with tough decisions next week.

In Wayne-Westland schools, voters will elect four school board members who will fill vacancies created by a recall; Romulus voters have a pair of millage increases that are crucial for the survival of the school system, while Plymouth Canton taxpayers also have millage levies on their minds.

In Romulus where the school board has implemented a 20 percent teacher salary rollback, there is a lot of tension and frustration. The two proposals ask for approval of a 3-mill increase for school operation and one mill for school repairs.

Obviously, with the economy as it is, the two proposals are in serious trouble. Most residents approach a tax increase much as they would the bubonic plague.

But, unless the millages are approved, residents will greet 1983 in a chaotic state with the possibility that schools will be closed.

We don't think Romulus residents will shirk their responsibilities to their children. We urge them to approve the millage requests.

Despite recent cutbacks, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools continues to offer one of the finest educational programs in the state. That status could well be placed in jeopardy, however, if voters turn down the school district's request for an 8-mill property tax renewal in next Tuesday's special election.

We at the Associated Newspapers strongly support the continuation of the tax, which provides nearly one-fifth of the school district's total budget. Without the $8 million in revenue generated annually by the 8 mills, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools could not maintain its excellent programs and services which have survived previous belt-tightening.

Because of the uncertain economic picture, school officials cannot promise to retain every program even if the millage proposal meets with success at the polls. Passage, however, would allow the school board and administration to plunge ahead with plans on how to best utilize the funds for educating the district's children.

Above all, voters should bear in mind that approval of the millage will not mean an increase in their property-tax rates. The levy will merely continue the existing funding.

ANP endorses

Tuesday's election in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools may well be the most important to face voters in many years. Their choices to fill four vacancies on the Board of Education will, in fact, determine what course the beleaguered school district will travel in the coming years.

The decisions to be made next week aren't easy ones at all. Emotions have run high in the district throughout the year, and residents' cries to be heard have not subsided since the recall of four board members in September.

In considering who would best represent the residents of the district for the remainder of those four terms, two facts must be considered — of the members recalled two were women and two were residents of the City of Wayne.

Of the 10 candidates vying for seats on the board, seven are women, but of those candidates only two are residents of Wayne. These two facts have weighed heavily in our decision as to who we recommended to voters for election to the board.

However, we must take this opportunity to laud all of the candidates for their courage to step forward and actively seek a seat on the school board.

Decisions must be made that will be extremely unpopular with residents, and to find 10 resident of a school district willing to be a part of that decision making process in the face of stiff opposition in encouraging.

For the two six-month terms on the Board of Education, we found all three of the candidates qualified, and the decision on who to recommend to voters a difficult one. However, based on their interest and involvement in their community and their school district we recommended GLENN ANDERSON AND MATHEW McCUSKER.

Likewise the decision on the two 18-month terms was as difficult. The field of candidates was much larger, and the qualifications as respectable. We are recommending three candidates for voter consideration, leaving the final decision up to them. We recommend KATHLEEN CHORBAGIAN and KATHRYN SHAW, based on their extensive involvement in the district through the grassroots efforts of the PTA organization, and PHYLLIS RUNION, who through her watchdog nature has shown an deep interest in the decisions made in this school district.

We hope that all of the candidates involved in this election next week will continue their involvement in the school district after the final vote is counted, and urge voters to exercise their right to vote.

Teachers are bitter and very frustrated

In response to concerns of the community last spring, Romulus teachers offered a salary freeze for this round of bargaining. What they received instead is a 20% rollback of their pay schedule to the 1979-80 level.

In attempting to determine why a community would not even question their Board of Education for taking such an action I have come to some conclusions.

This community on the whole, does not appreciate what it means to invest a minimum of five years (for a Bachelors Degree plus 18 hours) to a maximum of 12-15 years (for Educational Specialists or Doctoral Degrees) in order to become an educator, and maintain a high level of proficiency once we secure a job.

We are professionals, but we are not viewed as such. We take away the aura and mystique that other professionals maintain.

We allow every passerby to feel "I could do that job. They are overpaid."

If that be the case, why are parents so relieved to see September roll around after having their children home for 12 weeks?

Yes, the teachers in Romulus feel bitter and frustrated. Why as a professional in Romulus are my services of any less value than a teacher in Wayne-Westland or Troy?

I recall having taken the same oath, passed the same credential requirements and paid the same amount of money for my education as any state graduate.

Doesn't it make you wonder how Dr. William Bedell can justify taking the State of Michigan to court over the issue of equal funding for children no matter what city or township they live in, yet demanding the teachers of Romulus work for a salary reduced to 1979 levels.

Personally, I feel even more resentment because I was a product of this school system having graduated in 1959. I accepted my job here at a time when I could have taken a job anywhere in the State. I chose Romulus because I wanted to do something for my community, so have a lot of other Romulus graduates. We have continued to attempt to build a school community that everyone could be proud of not only in our classrooms, but through outside activities as well.

A teaching staff cannot do it alone. We need so many more people involved. This community has chosen the future of their school not by what they have done, but by what they have failed to do. They have failed to make this administration accountable, to demand answers to questions such as:

1. Why was this community not given an accurate assessment of the district's financial affairs during the bond issue, in the spring, in the summer?

2. Why were people led to believe the teachers offer of a salary freeze had been accepted by the school district?

3. Why were people told if the renewal passed schools would stay open and we would be okay financially?

4. Why was the community never told that, in fact, there was a need for 4 more mills when you voted on the renewal.

Do not be concerned that your children will be neglected or ignored by our professional staff during this time of severe stress. We will continue to do the job we are paid for. What will be lacking will be all the time, money and effort spent out of the work place to make school a more rewarding and interesting place to be. Don't expect teachers to put forth a maximum of effort for a slap in the face.

There is a sign on my classroom wall by Lon Watters which reads: "School is a building with four walls...and tomorrow inside."

I hope you as parents are as concerned about tomorrow as the educators of Romulus are:

DECEMBER

*There's something in December
That is special to us all,
It brings the joy of friendship close
And troubles seem quite small.*

*The cold and frosty climate puts a sparkle in our hearts,
Fires light a cozy warmth
Ablaze in every hearth.*

*A pleasant expectation fills the morn when first we wake,
The sun still hides within the dark
'Till dawn does softly break.*

*The snow is drifting deeper
As winter finds its bed,
A wreath's on every doorway adorned with green and red.*

*The postman greets us warmly
though he has not time to tarry,
the burden of his tidings
is more than he can carry.*

*I think I like December best,
It's more than words can say,
To see and hear the children cheer
At dawn on Christmas Day.*

Should a teacher tell parents that she is not certified to teach a particular subject?

A Romulus teacher believed that parents had a right to know whether she was certified to teach the emotionally disturbed and handicapped, while the school's administration believed she was overstepping her authority when she revealed that fact.

And, because of the conflict between teacher-and-administration, the teacher, Joann Martin, was called on the carpet. After a complaint was filed by Mrs. Martin, the administration agreed to remove the directive from her files.

That directive reads, as follows: "You are hereby directed to not tell parents that you feel that you are unqualified to teach their children Special Education; you are also directed to not say anything or act in any manner that will undermine the parents' confidence in that education program as provided in Romulus, and you are advised that should you act in these ways, disciplinary action may be taken up to and including dismissal."

The courts say that Mrs. Martin, who holds a masters degree in education, but is not certified to teach Special Education, has a right to say what she pleases.

The school administration said the reason why Mrs. Martin was forced into the situation (of teaching special education) was due to the "bumping" caused by layoffs of other teachers.

But it doesn't change the fact that some teachers are in classrooms where they do not have certification.

"I would like the parents to know that their children are basically being taught by teachers — including me — who are not certified, and especially in the area of emotionally impaired and learning disabled children."

Mrs. Martin pointed out that she is responsible for the education of nearly 50 children in the Special Education classes.

After months of frustration where she was ordered not to communicate with parents about the fact that she wasn't certified to teach those specific classes and children, Mrs. Martin decided to hire attorney Gerald Eggemeyer.

Eggemeyer said he had some concerns about how the schools were handling this particular case and accepted the challenge.

"Our basic emphasis in court was to make sure the administration removed the directive from Mrs. Martin's record and they agreed."

"I think what's important here is to realize that as far as her assignment now is concerned we have to pursue it through the administrative channels, and the law requires you to exhaust those channels before you can institute any kind of legal action."

Eggemeyer also stressed that in cases when schools assign teachers who are not certified to teach, and "especially in special education," the rights of the children are also being violated.

"What we're trying to do is let the children and their parents — the families with emotionally disturbed and impaired children — know that their children are being taught by teachers who may well have no certification or training in that area."

"We need someone to spread that message, and we hope the press can help," Eggemeyer added.

We hope we did.

The church and the schools

EDITOR — I am writing to respond to a letter signed by Michael Miller of Wayne which appeared in the November 24 issue of The Associated Newspapers.

Most of Mr. Miller's letter was an excellent call for active voter participation in the upcoming Special Election for the Wayne-Westland Board of Education on Dec. 7.

I do, however, take issue both personally and philosophically with his statement that clergy should not run for elected office simply because they are clergy and as such should avoid "mixing religion and politics." While I cannot presume to speak for Ray Robichaud, I wish to assure Mr. Miller of several things:

1. I do not wish to impose any kind of narrow religious view on the Board of Education or the children of the District. I am running for the office as a parent, a taxpayer, and a concerned citizen, not as a clergyman. However, I do think the Board will benefit from the skills of my profession and the high ethical demands which it makes.

2. The history of the United States has been frequently punctuated with clergy who have successfully been involved in the political process. (One of the signers of the Declaration of Independence was a Presbyterian Minister and not too long ago a Roman Catholic Priest served with great distinction on the House of Representatives Committee investigating the "Watergate Break-In." In most instances clergy have brought much needed insights and perspectives into the situations at hand.

3. Perhaps the largest criticism I hear in the churches with which I have contact is that there should be more direct involvement in making our community a better place in which to live. Too often we are guilty of "keeping to ourselves" while problems and difficulties grow. In my case, my congregation has been very supportive. But they also know that it is not the church which seeks election to the Board, but Jim LeDuc, parent, citizen, and taxpayer.

4. Personally, I believe that the doctrine of the separation of church and state is one of the most important we have in our nation.

I believe this because it projects both from meddling and interference. Most churches I know wouldn't think of restricting a local elected official from participating in its life or holding an important church office. The electorate has nothing to fear from me and I believe they have a great deal to gain by selecting me to serve on the Board of Education.

As I stated earlier, I believe Mr. Miller is quite correct in saying that the December 7th election is of great importance and that the voters should choose carefully. I only hope that they will choose both carefully and without prejudice.

Who stole child's bike?

EDITOR — Earlier this year, my grand daughter, age 7, took her 20 inch girl's bike out of the house to go for a ride.

A moment later I noticed it lying near the sidewalk. I went into the kitchen and got a drink of water and when I returned it was gone. Supposing it was being ridden by the little owner, I went outside and she came up the sidewalk, saying, "Grandpa, where's my bike?" It had been stolen just that quick.

My bicycle's frame is a cream color with the Huffy emblem in front. It has a silver metallic banana seat; a purple chain-guard and chrome fenders. The rear is a shorty fender. It is a bicycle I got for the child's mother when she was eleven and when she got too big for it I kept it in the basement all the years between. It was taken the second day my granddaughter began riding it.

Has anyone seen such a bike? My phone number is 722-7361.

Seatbelts and legislators

EDITOR — I had an interesting experience yesterday. I called State Representative William Keith's office for the first time in my life. I wanted to add my voice to all the others that were surely rising in opposition to the proposed mandatory seat belt law. I was informed that no one else had called about it yet, for or against.

The legislators probably will turn, his eyes would light up and his happy smile would flash. "Neat, man, neat," he would beam.

Our third son made his presence known by immediately setting up a bartering place on the driveway. There he either sold or bartered tires, old radios, anything he could really do without on his car, or which he was reasonably sure his father would re-supply for him.

Then he would come into the house, grinning and shouting, "Hey, anybody home? I'm here!"

Whatever way one's child makes his presence known when he or she comes home from school is good. For a brief while one can be all mother again, hugging and loving that kid until at least he proves he is grown up by one morning saying goodbye and going off to school, leaving a vacant spot, even though it is hard to find with all the debris and peanut butter jars, and coke bottles left in his space.

whose only reason for being is to "get" the superintendent and all his "cronies." Will that person ever look beyond that vendetta to see what's really going on? To see that cutbacks in state aid and declining enrollments create problems in our schools far exceeding any that one person at the top could create?

And, finally, we have to ask ourselves whether the ones we are voting for are truly qualified in every sense of the word — with qualifications including an open mind and an objective viewpoint.

The fate of our schools is too important, at this stage of the game, to abandon it to a majority of decision-makers whose only claim to fame is that they were responsible for making vacant the seats they want to sit in.

If we do that, if we give those people seats without expecting anything more from them, we may well find that recalls will become unending, vicious circles.

vote on the law sometime before the first week of December.

For the record, Keith (1-517-373-0849, State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48909) is "undecided" about the seat belt law, and State Senator George Hart (1-517-373-6820 same address) "has supported it in the past, but is willing to listen to other opinions on the matter."

Also for the record, a 5-minute call to Lansing costs $1.85, a letter costs 20 cents, and a postcard is 13 cents.

The flouride controversy

EDITOR — I found that two Head Start children living in nonflouridated Battle Creek Township became ill, one requiring hospitalization, apparently from a 0.2 percent sodium flouride rinsing and flouride toothbrushing program promoted by the Michigan Department of Public Health. I reported these illnesses to the Health Department, to Gov. Milliken, and appeared three times before the Michigan Department of Public Health Advisory Council.

In July, I received a Public Health Advisory to the effect that the flouride rinsing would be stopped for children under six. This recommendation conforms to the Federal Register of March 28, 1980, as well as the recommendations of the Physicians Desk Reference (PDR).

Then I received a letter from Maurice Reizen, MD, former Director of the Michigan Department of Health, saying that the directive had been sent to me inadvertently. Along with the letter, I received a new "Public Health Advisory" to the effect that would allow the flouride rinses to be given to 5-year-old children with undeveloped swallowing reflexes.

So now it appears that 5-year-old kindergarten children will continue to receive the 0.2 percent flouride rinse, a prescription drug being administered without prescription and compounded by lay persons with a pharmacist license.

I have appealed to the Public Health Advisory Panel to reinstate the first directive. So far this has not been done. My 1½ years of efforts were apparently wasted as far as a 5-year-old kindergarten children are concerned.

I have talked with my pharmacist, and he tells me that he can't sell the 0.2 percent sodium flouride rinse without a prescription. I talked with my family physician, and after he consulted the PDR, he told me that he couldn't write a prescription for a five year old with undeveloped swallowing reflexes.

It appears that the Michigan Department of Public Health and the American Dental Association, who are involved in the promotion of this rinsing program, should be held accountable for any illnesses that might arise from administering the 0.2 percent sodium flouride rinse.

One dose of the 0.2 percent sodium flouride rinse yields 9 milligrams of the flouride ion; 7 milligrams can cause nausea. In addition, children are swallowing flouride toothpaste that has a higher flouride ion concentration than the 0.2 percent flouride rinse.

So parents, if you have children involved in a flouride rinsing program and also brushing their teeth with flouride toothpaste, remember that flourides are very toxic.

Store employees have feelings, too

EDITOR — As a teenage employee of a local fast food chain in Westland, I have never in my life met such rude and selfish customers.

People walk-in to our store and treat the employees like we are talking statues with no feelings and expect only the impossible. They are either complaining about the high prices, as if we agree with the prices of the product we sell, or complaining about the wait they have in our line. What do they expect from us? We are only human.

Please, don't get me wrong. I am totally aware of the economy's situation and also have had a taste of it by a 50% cut in my hours.

We employees are only human and also have our own life problems, but we manage to put them aside from our work. Our job is to see that people have a good time and are satisfied with our service at our popular fun center. This is next to impossible when people don't even give us a chance before they come out with their snotty remarks.

Why can't people put their problems aside during their visit and smile or try to be friendly? I guess one could stay depressed and give snotty, sarcastic remarks to everyone he or she encounters, but why?

We are all in this problem together so why not smile and show that you have feelings for someone other than yourself. After all we are only human, YES, we too have feelings!!

WESTLAND RESIDENT

An ode to W-W kindergarten teacher

EDITOR — Lately when I read the paper, I find negative opinions about school districts and its teachers. There are teachers and administrators who do an inadequate job in their profession, but their number is small.

Most of the educators do well as teachers and administrators. I want to tell you about a teacher whom I had an opportunity to assist as an aide. It was a very enriching experience. She taught me a lot about self-discipline in terms of good study, listening, and work habits. She is very organized and has excellent control over her pupils.

She expresses excellent rapport with her fellow teachers. She always tries to work around the children's needs, and helps them to reach their goals. She is dedicated to her profession.

The administration and the teaching staff have a great admiration for her. Mrs. Trick is a kindergarten teacher at Jefferson Elementary School in the Wayne-Westland School District.

Mrs. Trick, congratulations for a job well done in the teaching profession.

Tuesday I'll be casting my vote. I hope you will too.

Teachers should be thankful

EDITOR — After reading Chris Powers' comments on the salary rollbacks in the Romulus schools and the "Letter to the Editor" by union officials, I am left without words.

However, I feel it is my obligation to write and point out another side of the story.

True, it must be heart-breaking and frustrating for teachers to accept a rollback of 20 percent. I can understand it hits them hard where it hurts the most.

But, do you know what? Think of the alternative. I have been looking for a job for the past 1½ years and I can't find one. I don't like to see my family in this situation and I admire my wife... and kids... for sticking by me.

I'm not an illiterate or looking for a big salaried job. All I want is something that will feed my family, clothe my children and pay some of — not all of — my bills.

reflections

Daughter's education

We had gone out for dinner the other evening, and it was still early when we pushed the front door open... or rather we pushed the front door.

"What the hell," said my patient spouse, and he put his shoulder to the door and gave it all he had. The door fell inward easily and my husband fell into the arms of a perfect stranger. A stranger about six feet six and still growing.

Looking through the hall door into the living room I saw people lined up with not an inch to spare, all kinds of young people invading each other's space. And I said, "Lisa is home."

Lisa is our youngest and she is supposed to be getting an education away at school. What she had gotten are more friends.

"As I stared, someone shrieked, "There's Mom," and I opened up my arms to embrace my youngest, but the kid I embraced was short and cute and very dark.

"Hi, mom," she enthused.

"Hi," I answered, peering over and around and beyond, searching for a familiar face on a familiar body which had been brought to this earth by me.

"Lisa," I shouted.

"Oh Mom," fifteen young voices shouted and the masses parted while a whirling dervish skirted through. There she was safe and sound and surrounded by friends.

"We're having a party," she bubbled.

"Where can I sit down to watch the football game?" her father asked.

"Oh, pop, why don't you take Mom out for the WHOLE night?" suggested the kid.

But naturally that suggestion wasn't eagerly affirmed to by her father, and so he pushed through a group who must have realized the head of the home was coming through, for they parted like the Red Sea, and he claimed his seat by the fireplace, picked up his paper and began to read.

It is funny how one can tell when one's kid has come home. Of course in this case it would have been difficult not to realize that someone was home and people were glad to see her.

We had one son who made his presence known in a different manner.

He never called to let us know he was coming. He never wrote a letter. I would just come home from the office one day and see an empty jar of peanut butter sitting on the counter. A peanut butter jar which had been filled only that morning. Close by would be a knife full of peanut butter, and an empty bread wrapper would be lying on the floor where it had fallen in his haste to get to the last slice.

Following bread crumbs I would climb up the stairs to the bedroom which had been empty for a few months. Cautiously I would open the door, and there sprawled on his bed, face down would be my oldest son, sleeping off his peanut butter.

Our second son announced his homecoming by leaving a backpack in the front hall, mountain climbing boots in the doorway, and opening every drawer in the house, rummaging through and then leaving them dangling with their contents drooping sadly.

One could follow his route right through the rooms until one found him in the basement admiring all of his dad's new tools and reminiscing on how he could put them to good use up at school. I would say, "Well, hello, there," and his blond head would

That special election

On Tuesday, the voters of the Wayne-Westland Community School District will be faced with placing four new members on their school board.

These four — whoever they are — will be taking the places of the four who were unceremoniously ousted by the district's voters after an unprecedented and particularly nasty recall campaign. Two of the board members will fill seats for six months and two will be filling longer, 18-month terms.

There are those of us who hate the very idea that this general election is taking place at all...

Who hate the idea that there was no convincing the majority of voters that, while their frustrations may have been justified, the punishment far outweighed the crime...

And that, since the singlemost issue was admittedly the early teacher contract settlement (and since that issue had been decided already and was binding, no matter what the recall outcome), the reasonable, the sane thing would have been to wait for the June elections and vote two of them out.

Then, the ones who had been considered "administration's babies" would have held the minority seats. The "Fearsome Foursome" would have easily and effectively been pushed out of the catbird seats... if that was what the public wanted.

But, instead, here we are, being forced to choose four acceptable board members out of 10 possible candidates.

Three, maybe four of the candidates were active proponents of the recall campaign.

Two of the candidates are ministers (which shouldn't be a factor unless they make it one).

One had a spouse who works closely with school administration (another factor that doesn't bother me — after really thinking about it — as much as I thought it would).

All have children of their own (comforting), but not necessarily in our schools.

And all, if they were forced to, would fire teachers who went out on strike. (Though here's something to look at: Some of the candidates would do it with absolute glee; others of them would do it reluctantly and only because state law decrees it.)

These are not going to be easy decisions to make. We can look at these people, we can ask questions of them. We can only hope they will tell us the truth.

We can ask whether, beyond the rhetoric, we heard anything that suggested the welfare of the kids came first. Does it scare us, for instance, that one of the candidates said we should go back to the basics — reading, writing and arithmetic — and forget all those other "frills" programs? It scared me.

Nobody would argue that the basics should be taught first. But to suggest that, in this day and technological age, the basics are enough? Kids have enough trouble out in that cold, cruel, exacting world without sending them out from the caves.

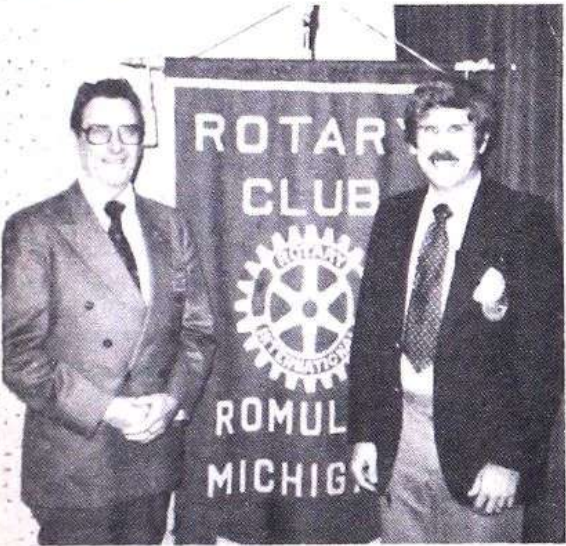

I want someone on that board who sees the value of music, dance, art and sports programs, too. And who sees the value of family living and self-awareness programs. Our kids need more than just the basics. They need to view the world from other perspectives. They need to feel good and alive and aware of the world around them.

And we can ask whether we want someone on the board

The Rotarians

Rawsonville road bridge to be replaced

The Wayne County Road Commission this week reported that an $885,000 contract has been awarded to an Ann Arbor based construction firm to replace the Rawsonville Road Bridge over the Huron River.

The firm, Argersinger-Morse Construction Company, will begin replacement on or about Feb. 1. The work will require the closing of Rawsonville Road between Grove Road and the Huron River Drive., according to R.W. Swanson, field engineer for WCRC.

According to Swanson, a detour of traffic will be needed. That detour will be via Textile Road, Bridge Road and Grove Road. Truck traffic will be directed to use Textile Road, Huron River Drive, Whittaker Road, Haggerty Road and I-94.

Administration of the project will be by the Field Engineering Division of the Wayne County Road Commission and the Project Engineer will be W.J. Burcon.

For any further information, persons should contact the Field Engineering Division Office at 595-6504.

Romulus artist's work on display

A Romulus artist will be among the scores who will display some of her work at an "Objects of Art-Christmas Fair" at the SS Peter & Paul Church, 7718 Westwood, in Detroit.

Gayle Rzanca will display sculpture work at the show which will get underway at 10 a.m., Sat., Dec. 4 at the church located four blocks east of Evergreen and a block north of West Warren.

Views On Dental Health

By KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S.

CALORIES AND CAVITIES

A recent study has shown that Americans are consuming just as much sugar today as they were 10 years ago, and even more corn sweeteners, a common ingredient of packaged foods.

In fact, each year Americans consume the average person's weight in table sugars and corn sweeteners, about 129 pounds' worth. These are called "empty calories" because they contain essentially no nutrients.

What is all this sugar doing to their dental health? The same thing it did to the Dutch 300 years ago. Many of the paintings of Dutch painter Rembrandt show people with decayed or missing teeth, or no teeth at all. This was in the 17th century when the Dutch were bringing back large quantities of sugar from the New World. By 1661 Amsterdam had 60 sugar refineries and had become the "carbohydrate capital" of Europe. Before then, cavities and missing teeth were much less common and so was the use of sugar.

Good dental care today, with regular checkups, can help prevent loss of teeth. It also calls for moderation in sugar intake to help keep cavities to a minimum.

Eric Zeestraten, Cindy Conrad exchange vows at St. Aloysius

In an afternoon ceremony September 18 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus, Cindy Conrad and Eric Kevin Zeestraten exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands.

The Rev. Walter Lezuchowski officiated at the three o'clock rite before some 180 assembled relatives and friends including Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Conrad of Hannan Road, Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zeestraten of Harrison, parents of the young couple.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride appeared in a bouffant-skirted gown of lace over taffeta styled with a Queen Anne neckline and long fitted sleeves sprinkled with sequins.

A wide-brimmed lace hat encircled with tulle secured a half veil of silk illusion while a bouquet of silk lavender and white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath completed her ensemble.

As her sister's maid of honor, Lori Conrad of Belleville donned a huckleberry-colored gown of organza over taffeta designed with an off-shoulder ruffled neckline, bustled back and flounced skirt. She carried a basket filled with silk lilac-colored roses, stephanotis and baby's breath and wore a small spray of silk flowers in her hair.

Wearing an identical costume was the bride's niece, Sherry Charkiewicz of Belleville, the only bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's brothers, Robin Zeestraten and Mark Zeestraten, both of Belleville, served as best man and usher, respectively.

At the reception which followed at the Romulus Progressive Hall, the bride's mother greeted guests in a full-length gown of dusty rose qiana featuring a sheer overblouse. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear a long green nylon gown with a matching lace wrap. Both were honored with corsages of silk pink and white rosebuds and baby's breath.

Now residing at 93 Green Meadow in Belleville, the newlyweds have postponed their honeymoon to Florida until December.

Both graduated from Belleville High School, she in 1980 and he in 1975, the bride being currently employed at Mel's Cleaners in Belleville and he at Draw-Tite in Belleville.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal dinner held at the China Star in Westland.

Candy's dandy — better if creatively gift-wrapped

Candy can be very handy for creating your own "memorable" holiday gifts.

With careful shopping, it's easy to find super "containers" that you can convert into custom-designed packages of sweet cheer, simply by including an assortment of tasty confections.

A gift of confections or a candy-filled novelty is always appreciated during the holidays. But you'll double the gift-getting pleasure when you couple selected sweets with some appropriate personal item, the National Confectioners Association suggests.

Such sweet gifts are just right for those "special" people on your gift list like teachers, babysitters, beauticians or anyone you want to remember with a thoughtful, yet reasonably-priced gift.

For junior's teacher, an attractive scarf, tied up and filled with an ample containers to keep all the pencils, paperclips, rubberbands and other items that clutter a desk. Stationery stores are well stocked with reasonably-priced desk acces-

To sweeten up your beautician's busy days, fill an attractive metal container with an assortment of chocolates or other confections. Everyone in the shop is sure to enjoy the sweets, and when the container is empty, it is perfect for stashing pins, curlers and other shop accessories.

A sweet way to remember the plant lover on your list is to fill an attractive planter with an assortment of confections. Even the classic terra cotta pot becomes a novel gift when filled with tasty sweets. And when the eating's done, your horticulturist can pot it with a choice of greenery.

If there's an antique buff on your list, now's the perfect time to come up with an oldie but goodie. House sales, garage sales and second-hand stores are perfect places to locate interesting and unusual treasures that will double in value when assortment of colorful hard candies is both clever and chic. Once the candy is eaten, teacher will have a chic wardrobe accessory with this important fashion accent. This gift need not even be wrapped since the scarf can also serve as the wrapping.

For the college bound lass or lad, the popular denim or canvas carryalls are welcome campus accessories. And a carry-all filled with a box of chocolates or other assorted confections will be enjoyed and appreciated by every co-ed in the dorm.

A sweet gift idea for your teenage babysitter is a cosmetic tote filled with her favorite confections. If she's been sitting for you for any length of time, you know from her nibbling habits what all her favorites are! Notion sections of variety and department stores are stocked with versatile containers for teens to tote around their many personal treasures.

you fill them with a selection of confection.

Wicker baskets, jewelry cases, travel totes, sewing organizers, dusting powder containers and pencil cases are just a few of the many items that will take on a special sweet aura when you fill or pack them with an assortment of tasty confections.

potpourri

Suburban Living Editor

None of us gals are wont to forget that memorable moment when we first played hostess at a big, important family dinner — right? Our memories are forever branded by that pan of gravy which refused to thicken, the potatoes that wouldn't unclump, the gelatin salad which failed to release from the mold, the new 4-tiered cake which stubbornly did its leaning tower act — the many little annoyances which were so earth shattering at the time.

Perhaps that's why, as we've mastered the routine and become seasoned chefs, we are reluctant to hand over the range to the next cook waiting in the wings.

One year ago when daughter "O" (oldest) stated she'd like to have Thanksgiving dinner at her home, I reacted with "Are you crazy?" But only because she'd just moved into a new home, would still be battling crates and boxes, a full-time job and wifely-mother duties as well, without tackling the big production a turkey dinner entails.

So, I suggested she wait until next year. And about mid-August, she reminded us we'd be expected to spend our November holiday in Illinois. Wonderful! I was delighted to think of being entertained on such a special day although I kept wondering if she had any idea of the work involved.

When we got down to the nitty-gritty of menu planning a few weeks beforehand, I realized she really didn't know how little time she'd have after 9-to-5ing it. Everything was going to be "the way it had always been" — her grandmother's holiday punch, one aunt's scalloped corn, another's homemade rolls, her mother's pecan pie, her husband's grandmother's cranberry relish (at his request) and a few new recipes including honeyed yams and peanuty green beans. The fact she was adamant about making 'em both from scratch is what shook me up a bit.

"Make it easy on yourself," I Jewish-mothered it, "use the canned yams and frozen beans and go from there." But no — they were to be the real McCoy — fresh!

Then "Y" (youngest) got into the act and volunteered to make yeast rolls, something she'd never attempted even in my roomy kitchen let alone the teeny niche (with no counter space) in her apartment. "M" (middle of my trio) fortunately didn't throw me for a loss since she wisely chose the corn souffle, a casserole she'd mastered shortly after moving to her own place.

I guess knowing that "O" can get pretty hyper just before "curtain time" and that "Y" can frustrate fairly easily had me most concerned and, being a typical mother, I hated to think of them being deflated or disappointed.

Now, however, as I look back on a fantastically successful family feast (with friends as well) I realize we moms do tend to underestimate our offspring.

Arriving Thanksgiving Eve, we found a very cool, collected hostess calmly laying out serving pieces on her already-set table and, very systematically, crossing off the items on her checklist.

No, there was nothing I could do to help her that evening, just come in and sit down and enjoy some hot cider. And she was sorry it had to be plain tonight but tomorrow we'd have a mulled version along with tide-us-over-to-dinner munchies.

And please note, mom and dad, that long-discussed mantle was up and painted, the furniture was company-arranged and the dining room floor was scrubbed and waxed! (Like her mother, a most despised "pasttime.")

Come T-Day the sun even cooperated by beaming down on that gleaming tile and prettily-set table for 11. The bird, dressing, potatoes, yams, beans, giblet gravy and corn all managed to hit the 3:00 goal simultaneously ("O's" biggest fear), the rolls professionally shaped were warm and ready, the fruit salads-ala-friends were colorful and delicious and the wine courtesy son-in-law-to-be was sparkling and nicely chilled.

Most unbelievably of all, though, two women had worked together in complete harmony (she and I) never once getting in each other's way or on each other's nerves. We just proceeded, according to that very important "list" — the others very wisely seeing the small kitchen could handle only two of the same temperament.

With everyone else giving a hand at the final moments — carving, pouring, serving — our hostess debuted completely unruffled and produced a banquet which any of her forebears would have been burstingly (and I use the word in its full context) proud to have shared.

Now, next year "O" when we all come to Glenview...

BETCHA DIDN'T KNOW...

- In 1900, one-third of all the automobiles in Chicago, New York and Boston were battery-operated. (OPEC would've gone down the drain.)

- From all levels of government, Americans get about 150,000 new laws and some two million new regulations each year. (And don't try to plead ignorance of any of 'em either!)
 - Ketchup (catsup) was once sold as a medicine. (Is that why we "doctor up" everything with the oozy red stuff?)
 - The common cold is most communicable two days before to two days after symptoms appear.
 - Most sports fans know the length of a football field is 120 yards including end zones but few know its width which is... 53 and one-third yards. (Try THAT on some of your "knowledgeable" sports friends for size.)
- ONE RESPONSE THUS FAR
- OF THAT TRIO, Sue, Mary and Gerry who requested the English muffin bread recipe a couple weeks back and promised they'd each send a favorite recipe of their own, one has come through — Sue. Now, you other two, we know you've been busy with preparations for Thanksgiving so we'll just let you add to our files with something for Christmas.
- Sue's recipe for Curried Fish and Chips has alternative ingredients for those watching their weights and waists. "I enclose a recipe I've used for ages — something quick and good," she writes. "Most folks probably have the ingredients in the house and I substitute somewhat using unbreaded fish, mushroom in place of celery soup if I'm out, lo-cal milk, weight-watchers mayo."
- CURRIED FISH AND CHIP BAKE
- 1 14-oz. package frozen breaded fish portions or 15-oz. package frozen batter-dipped fish fillets.
 - 1 16-oz. package frozen French fried potatoes, (crinkle-cut are nice.)
 - 1 10 3/4-oz. can condensed cream of celery soup
 - 3/4 cup milk
 - 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 - 1 teaspoon curry powder
- Arrange frozen fish on bottom of greased 2x12x7 1/2 inch baking dish. Sprinkle fries over fish. Combine soup, milk, mayonnaise and curry powder, pour mixture over fish and fries. Bake at 350-degrees, uncovered, for about 45 minutes. Mixture should be bubbling. Garnish with a parsley sprig.
- THE BOTTOM LINE: Many a child is spoiled because you can't spank his grandpa or grandma.

Brownie Troop 684 has activity-filled schedule

St. Stephen's Brownie Troop 684 has been very active since it started in September. At the regular meetings every week, the girls have been working much like Santa's little elves getting ready for the Dec. 5 Christmas bazaar which will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. at Huron High School. They will sell crafts they made themselves as well as baked goods. All profits will go towards troop projects and activities.

An ongoing project which the troop is enjoying is the bird house they placed behind the home of Father Alexander Wytrwal. Each week they check to make sure the birds have a supply of food.

On Oct. 20 the girls had their first field trip of the season, a visit to South Huron Orchards. "Apple Charlie" told them how apples grow and let them pick one of their own. He showed them a giant refrigerator where produce is kept cold and gave them a thrill by raising them into the air in a huge crate via a fork lift. He explained how cider is made and then gave them donuts and samples of the drink. The troop was especially pleased to see Mrs. Grover whom many had had as their kindergarten teacher.

On Oct. 22 the troop marched in the Huron High School homecoming parade. It was extremely cold that day but the girls kept warm by marching briskly. The next day they joined their sister troop, Number 3, at an investiture ceremony at Janet Kidd's home.

The girls were welcomed into Girl Scouting and received their Brownie pins after reciting the Girl Scout promise. They later enjoyed hot cider and donuts around a big bonfire. They also managed to squeeze in a speedy but special Halloween party on Oct. 27 with Fr. Wytrwal as a guest.

Besides the regular meetings and crafts activities, the troop took an overnight Brownie-B weekend at Camp Crawford in Milan. They learned many new songs, games, crafts, how to lay a trail, fire building and pillow fighting. The weekend was sponsored by Girl Scout Troop 711. Those attending earned a weekend badge as well as one for fire building.

Two reasons for so many nice activities this year are the leadership of Mrs. Mary Nault and assistant leadership of Mrs. Janice Chwalik who have taught the girls how to have fun as well as many valuable lessons in life.

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING 699-4021

Mrs. Louis Bravatto was among those attending an awards banquet at the High School in Dexter Nov. 20 when her granddaughter, Shannon Alvaroe, the daughter of Jim and Marlene Alvaroe of Dexter, was honored for her outstanding work as cheer leader for the past three years. Shannon, a senior, not only received a special plaque, but several other nice gifts as well.

Ruth Carter and her sister, Ethel Harris returned home recently after spending a week with another sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ruppel at Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Groh of Melvindale were Sunday afternoon callers at the Liberty Street home of Mrs. Ruth Roulo.

Paula Dolph of Chicago, Ill. spent the holiday week-end with her parents, the Albert Dolphs of Edgar Street. All enjoyed dinner Thursday with the Gerry Dolphs of West Huron River Drive.

Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Clayton returned home Sunday after having spent the past week at Mecosta.

In celebration of Henry Deering's birthday Nov. 23, his wife, Esther; their daughter, Phyllis and her husband, Richard Smith, and their two children, Sarah and James, enjoyed a homemade dessert with Henry after his dinner at the Van Buren Convalescent Center.

Mrs. Ada Sager entertained several neighbors and friends at dinner at her home on West Columbia Avenue Nov. 19, in celebration of their November birthdays.

Natalie Gress, a student at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant, spent the holiday week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. La Marr Gress.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maki returned recently after spending a few days with their son, Alan, his wife and family at Elkton.

Beth Thompson, a freshman at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, and five of her roommates spent the week-end of Nov. 20 with her parents, the John T. Thompsons of High Street.

Mrs. Blanche Atyeo spent the holiday week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Nichols of Allen Park, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lent-Koop of Dearborn.

Courtney and David Sikes spent a long holiday week-end with their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parker at Glennie.

Kirt McKee, who recently finished his basic training at Parris Island, S.C., United States Marines, spent a few days with his parents, the Don McKees before going on to Japan where he will be stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey attended the Ingham County Association meeting at Stockbridge Nov. 20.

Ronald Mc Kelvey arrived home Wednesday from Parma, O. to spend Thanksgiving with his parents, the Charles Mc Kelveys of Bemis Road.

Several women from the First United Methodist Church of Belleville made a trip to Southgate recently for a visit with a former church member and Belleville resident, Mrs. Lillian Bernhardt at Beverly Manor. Taking along cake and ice cream, the group helped celebrate her 99th birthday. They report finding the "birthday lady" in very good spirits and looking great!

District court judge speaker at club meet

The November meeting of the Belleville Junior Study Club was held at the home of Pat Antonelli on Alden Drive. Judge Henry T. Zaborowski of the 34th District Court spoke on drunk driving and other alcohol-related offenses.

As a result of the presentation, the Club is now undertaking a "court watching" project wherein members will visit various courts in the area to study the practical application of Michigan's current alcohol-related driving laws. The project will be repeated in April, 1983 when Michigan's new OUIL (operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor) goes into effect.

Kitty Davies, who is operating the club-sponsored Children's Art Club at Edgemont

Elementary School, reported on the success of the classes. Reia Clark, Giving Tree chairman, reported on her project's progress adding that there are 157 names of needy children on the tree this season as opposed to 89 at this time last year.

The 13 members later enjoyed pumpkin pie, cherry cheesecake and coffee provided by the hostess.

State senator set to speak

On Friday, Dec. 3, the Women's Resources Task Force at Washtenaw Community College will hold its third annual Non-Traditional Career Day for women. All women in the community are invited to attend.

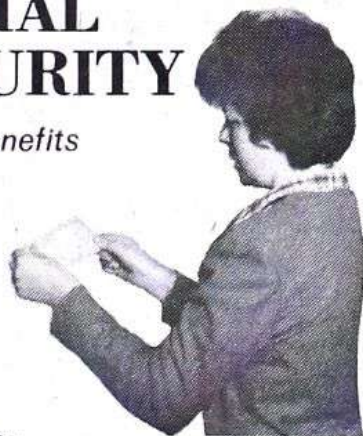

The Career Day is an opportunity for women students and women in the community to learn about non-traditional careers and meet with women currently employed in these areas. Newly-elected State Senator Lana Pollack will be the featured speaker. A film will also be shown and lunch served at no charge to participants.

The Non-Traditional Career Day will be held in the Artists' Gallery Dining Room in the Student Center Building from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m. To register for the day call 973-3493 or drop by Community Services in Room LA 100.

Westland man directs 'Deathtrap'

Robert Weibel of Westland knows a good play when he sees one. And well he should considering his more than 20 years of theatrical experience as a director, performer and technician.

His latest venture, the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Deathtrap," is a murder mystery that revolves around a writer willing to commit a crime to turn out a stage hit. The Plymouth Guild will be one of only three groups allowed to produce this play during the upcoming season.

"Deathtrap," directed by Weibel with a cast of five, will be performed Dec. 3 and 4, and 10 and 11 at the Central Middle School (Church and Main in downtown Plymouth). Curtain time is 8 p.m.

"The cast is small but extremely talented," noted Weibel, a free lance writer himself.

Weibel joined the Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre in 1959 and has participated in more than 50 shows with the group, including work in the Children's Theatre. During his career he has held several positions on the Community Theatre Association of Michigan and also remained active in the Detroit Metropolitan Theatre Council and the Detroit-Windsor Theatre Council. In "Deathtrap" he will be working with a story filled with homicidal schemes, plots and counter-plots that involve a European clairvoyant and a pompous New England lawyer.

The cast includes Ralph Rosati, Adrienne Greer, Lindel Salow, Gayann Brook and Wayne Belzer. Producing this Ira Levin piece will be Linda Pavey-Amerman with Patricia Bray as assistant director. Tickets, priced at $4 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and students 17 and under, may be purchased at the Plymouth Cultural Center or by calling 453-7505.

Up and Adam

ADAM ANT
"Friend Or Foe"
(Epic)

As a theatrical rocker, Adam Ant took England by storm a couple of years ago, and his Pirate/American Indian garb became the hottest fad on Carnaby Street.

Then, as is typical with the biased, pompous British music press, they decided Adam was too popular (i.e., bigger than the writers) and the backlash started. Adam Ant was hung out to dry, made mockery of by publications such as the NME and Melody Maker. The fact that last year's "Price Charming" LP was a little limp at best didn't help either.

So now Adam has dropped the band, all except for co-writer guitarist Marco Pirroni, and instead of greasepaint and feathers it's the music that's at the forefront this time around. And the result is Adam Ant's best, most consistent album to date.

The American music press, which, like American musical tastes, traditionally runs about two years behind the English. So it's no surprise that this time out it's the U.S. press that's slugging the record. After all, it's easier to follow trends than it is to actually sit down and listen to an album with an open mind.

You have to be careful so people take note I take it serious but I still like a joke I want those who get to know me To become admirers or my enemies...

So sings Adam in the LP's title cut. All he wants is a chance to be heard. Then, if you still don't like him, ok.

Cable's MTV has played a big part in the success of the album's first single, "Goody Two Shoes," which is one of the catchier tunes to be released in the past six months or so. It was number one in England earlier in the year, and it looked to be headed for the top ten here too.

The cry of "Antmusic for sexpeople!" may be long gone, but given any chance at all, Adam Ant is just now coming into his own musically. "Friend Or Foe"? The foes haven't heard it. The friends have. And their camp is growing.

SQUEEZE
"Singles — 45's And Under"
(A&M)

First, the bad news. Squeeze, the band which has been called the finest pop outfit since the Beatles has broken up. Kapoot. They're history. Now the good news. Chris Difford and Glenn Tilbrook, the songwriting team who have been favorably compared to Lennon and McCartney, are going to continue to work together.

Never content to simply make a song hummable, Tilbrook and Difford throw four or five hooks into each tune, as well as lyrics that are insightful, witty, and sometimes downright sharp. Oftentimes, they're all three at once.

The band's biggest U.S. hit, "Tempted," is naturally included here, as is their latest single, "Black Coffee In Bed," culled from their fantastic "Sweets From a Stranger" LP.

For those who have only heard Squeeze on the radio, a wonderful surprise awaits here: "Cool For Cats," an English hit and title song of their second album; "Another Nail In My Heart" and "Pulling Mussels (From The Shell)," both should-be-hits taken from "Argybargy"; as well as gems like "Up The Junction," "Is That Love," and the worldwide (except, of course, in the U.S.) hit "Goodbye Girl." Proof enough that one needn't turn their back on integrity to be commercial.

Also included on the album is one new song, "Annie Get Your Gun," which debuted on the airwaves last week on Saturday Night Live, where the band performed in one of their last ever performances. Ironically, "Annie Get Your Gun" could easily go straight to the top of the charts with a little bit of promotional help from the record company.

Twelve tunes, and every one of them a potential favorite. This is what "greatest hits" albums are supposed to be, but rarely are. Don't miss out on it.

ANP's All-Area grid defense is tough as Rocks

The 1982 Associated Newspapers' high school All-Area defensive team is as tough as Rock... the Plymouth Salem Rocks who were very stingy like Scrooge, when it came to giving away touchdowns or points on the gridiron.

In fact, Coach Tom Moshimer's gridders allowed a mere 53 points throughout their 7-2 campaign, and three good reasons are stalwart performers Dave Slavin, Ron Calhoun and Dave Haut — all of whom received all-state consideration.

Joining the three Salem standouts on this year's coveted All-Area club are:

Jack Walker (John Glenn), Shawn Perkins (Romulus), Joe Sawaya (John Glenn), Dan Schacht (Canton), Kevin Collins (Romulus), John Ericson (John Glenn), Don Forchione (John Glenn), Martin Donaldson (Belleville), John Chmielewski (Livonia Franklin), Gary Hardrick (Romulus), Jim Newsom (Wayne Memorial), Darrin Grandison (Romulus), Chris Merandi (John Glenn), and Matt Santilli (Plymouth Canton).

SLAVIN is a 6-0, 210-pound senior co-captain who is considered one of the best all-around football players on a team that traditionally produces outstanding players. A two-way starter, Slavin excelled as a linebacker whose aggressiveness made him the leading tackler on the team. He had three interceptions and two fumble recoveries and also blocked two punts.

He was named Player of the Week twice and was also named to the first team on the Suburban 8 Conference (1982) and Western Lakes (1982) and earned all-state recognition.

CALHOUN also earned conference recognition after leading his team to a superb 7-2 season. A 6-0, 190-pound defensive tackle, Ron developed into the Rocks' best defensive linemen and with six sacks of the QB led the team. He earned Linemen of the Week honors four of the nine weeks.

HAUT was not only one of the Rocks quarterbacks but also was a valuable asset as a defensive secondary starter who held down both the safety and corner positions. He was successful at helping stop outside runs at the corner and deep passes at the safety.

A very aggressive 6-0, 175-pound senior, Haut was named defensive back of the week twice and wound up with four interceptions and conference honors.

DONALDSON was Belleville's leader on defense. The 5-9, 180-pound senior linebacker counted 92 tackles for the year and provided the Tigers with the leadership that turned the tide in key games. He had three interceptions and two fumble recoveries.

"At times we played flawless defense," noted Belleville coach Michael Colletta, "and much of the time it was Donaldson who provided the spark."

WALKER, who made the team last year as a junior, repeated again this year as a senior. Walker played outside linebacker and helped Glenn's defense hold their opponent to only 46 points this season.

Glenn also placed four other players on the All-Area defensive team this year. Don Forchione, the team's leading tackler with over 220 tackle points, is an outstanding linebacker.

He forced many a fumble with his hard hitting.

SAWAYA, a hard-nosed player, was Glenn's nose guard and made All-League at that position. Senior John Ericson, a 6-3 defensive end, came into his own this year and helped the Rockets to contain the opponent's running game. Chris Merandi, a 5-9 senior, rounds out Glenn's selections for All-Area defense.

Romulus, despite their 5-4 record, placed four outstanding players on the All-Area team. Defensive linemen Shawn Perkins (6-5, 195) and Kevin Collins (6-1, 185) combined for over 150 tackles.

In addition, Collins had 6 sacks. Junior Darren Grandison, a corner back, had three interceptions and 40 tackles. Gary Hardrick, a 180-pound linebacker, was in on over 90 tackles this year.

NEWSOM, a safety, picked off five enemy passes and was one of the team's leading tacklers.

SCHACHT and Santilli were the Chiefs' representatives on defense. Schacht was their leading tackler and had 8 quarterback sacks. Santilli, a two-way player, played cornerback on defense.

Franklin's leading tackler, John Chmielewski, a 6-2, 180-pound linebacker, rounds out the All-Area defensive team. He was responsible for helping Franklin's defense holding their opponents to only 40 points all season long.

Over 30 Hockey

Rush is on for titles

With almost half of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey season completed, teams are eyeing top berths in the two conferences.

Just about half of the 1982-83 hockey season is over and the teams are aiming for position in both divisions.

Futurama held off a determined Brock Builder squad to take a 4-3 victory. Don Middaugh and Ken Murray provided the scoring power for Futurama as both players tallied for two goals.

Middaugh's second goal proved to be the game winner.

Ken Murray also picked up one assist as did Errol Pulk, John McFaddin, Ron Tyranski and Dick Burns.

Brock's got one goal in each period only to fall one short. Gary Pierce scored twice while Ed Harmon accounted for the remaining goal. Bob Wood received two assists with Buddy Brock finishing with one assist.

Excellent goaltending by John Ruggiero prevented Etronic from getting on the scoreboard as All Sorts Sports carded a 5-0 shutout.

Rick Wolkowicz led All Sorts by logging a hat trick while Craig Averill and Larry Kaifesh added single tallies. Averill also picked up one assist as did Tony Tanni, Nelson Vanderburgh, Mike Beals, Tim Potts, Ed Spontack and Ray Schemanske.

Family Heating ran the scoreboard up to a 10-0 shutout over Mic-Dago Pub as Ron Wajewski finished the game with three goals and three assists.

Al Pulk tallied twice with one assist; George Klemperer also rattled the net twice. Dave Zielinski scored one goal and received two assists; Dan Thomas netted the puck once and picked up one assist while Jack Bockstanz accounted for one goal.

Bill Creekmore finished the game with three assists while Dave Jones, Rick Rattai and Chuck Heebsh picked up one assist.

Johnson Carbonic came out to skate and logged a 5-2 victory over Little Bills Trophies. Ron Johnson tallied for two goals to lead the Johnson's Team to victory while Mike O'Shea scored one and received one assist with Bob Murray and Layne Cardinal accounting for a goal apiece.

Terry Jobbitt picked up two assists as John Mendler, Mike Adamson, Dennis Darnell, Joe Soukup and Dave Fishwick finished with one assist.

Dave Zajac and Mike McGraw accounted for Little Bills scoring with Jerry Burzuk and Mark LaFond assisting.

Jake's Lounge saw an early lead vanish as Tastee Freez scored three times in the final period to take a 6-4 decision.

Barry Anderson was the hero for Tastee Freez scoring four goals and assisting on the two remaining goals.

Bowlers and 'those turkeys'

By JIM WRUBLEWSKI

Now that the Thanksgiving Holiday is behind us and we have eaten our fill of that traditional bird, the turkey, we can concentrate on a different kind of "turkey," the three-bagger or three strikes in a row we all like to see.

Getting a turkey here and there does wonders toward putting us over average for the night or near the top of the standings in a tournament. It's also another way of making this game much more enjoyable.

The recent Tri-City Women's and Wayne-Westland Men's Bowling Association Mixed Doubles Tournament was the site of quite a few people throwing "turkeys" and enjoying it.

The father-daughter team of Ed and Michelle Burns is a good example of why this type of local tournament is held. After the first weekend of play, Ed and Michelle found themselves in third place. Being naturally curious they decided to check out the action on the final day of competition and, after reviewing the unofficial results realized they would finish well up in the standings.

The smiles that spread across their faces were pleasures to show.

It's not the money people are after. No one will ever get rich on the prize fund that is distributed. The pleasure you experience when you compete and the pride you enjoy if your lucky enough to finish somewhere on the prize list makes it all worthwhile.

These local tournaments are designed for the average bowler, and not the pros. There is no real reason for being bashful and not entering one whether it's a mixed, Men's or Women's event. As the saying goes: "Try it, you'll like it."

Here are the unofficial standings for the Mixed Doubles Tourney. The official results will be posted next week:

Unofficial Results
Mary & Richard Walakonis 1423
Geri Weitlave & Dave Schwartz 1409
Michelle & Ed Burns 1381
Jacque & Don Weise 1364
Laura & Ed Kuntz 1360

Westland Bowl has been the site of some impressive scoring lately and it doesn't appear that there is going to be an end to it.

Bob Pniewski would be the first in line there for an accuracy award. It seems Pniewski threw the ball solidly in the pocket for 10 consecutive frames. The only trouble is that he was stopped in the 8th frame by a stubborn 8 pin and had to settle for a 278 game. He also had a 244 game on his way to a 721 series.

Nice shooting but not the type of shooting that receives notoriety.

John Hurly and a respectable night recently by hitting 734 in his regular set then shooting a 733 in a make-up match the same night.

Ted Ratliff totaled 704; Rick Saxby a 690; T. J. Johnston a 673; and 142 average Linda Johnston experienced one of the quirks of bowling by starting out with a 201 game before dropping to a 102 game.

Toni Smith led the ladies with games of 243 and 213 for a 648 total. Judy Capaldi had 240 and 206 on her way to a 613, and Diane Taylor converted the difficult 6-7-10 split.

Also at Westland Bowl the 4-man teams continue to compile record book scores with the team of Ed Stevens (224), Bob Truskey (238), Rick Biegas (253), and Mark Abele (277) totaling 992 for a single game.

In the Youth League, 15 to 18 age bracket, the team of Donn Wolfe (249), Aaron Mueller (194), Mike Voyles (232), Brian Pritchard (233), and John Berlongieri (213) recorded an exceptional 1121 game.

At Wayne Bowl, John Engenbretsen went 145 pins over his average with a 664 series. C.T. Butcher had 631, 166 average Duane Harbison hit 603, Jim Pennington hit 613, Sam Hubbard had 603, and Mike Fox and Mel Jefferson both totaled 601.

Jean Essa picked the perfect time for some outstanding shooting when she hit 204 and 244 for a 623 total. Jean did this against her husband Frank to not only win all the points and money but also teach him a little humility.

The 14 and under group had Tom Boner go 63 pins over with a 166 game. Andy Laich with 61 pins over on a 180 game, and Connie Mullins hit a 144 game.

Fiesta Lanes Youth League, 13 and above, had 122 average Dave Sandel hit 219 and 120 average Jelenne Flower hit a 163 triplacate.

The Tri-City Men's Invitational had a good night when Jim Bowman led the pack with a 715 followed closely by Jerry Cole Jr. at 694, Rob Desrosiers (at a 164 average) with 690, and Mike Foley totalling 680.

Tom Romes has kept his name in the limelight at Super Bowl lately with a 300 game early in November then a 279 for 680 followed by another 279 game for a 749 series.

The Senior Citizens featured Desta Carpenter with a 208, Annie Carlson had a 200, and Gene Sund rolled a 173 all spare game.

Pam Martin led the ladies there with a 640 series and at Lodge Lanes Jan Sherada set the pace with a 588 series to wrap up this week's highlights.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice.

Every day, for homeowners like you, I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm® Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common: When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated vent damper that's:

- Proven in millions of locations.
- Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills.
- Popular choice of American homeowners.
- Five year limited warranty.
- Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires, electricity, or other power source.
- Eligible for 15% tax credit.
- Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters.

Seniors offered health screening

Three organizations, actively concerned about the health of elderly persons in the downriver area, will be co-sponsoring a "Discover Good Health" screening January 9 for persons 60 and older.

The Brownstown Lions Club, Seaway Hospital, a unit of Peoples Community Hospital Authority, and Oakwood Hospital-PCHA Health Center will donate medical personnel, volunteers and equipment for free health testing at the Oakwood Hospital-PCHA Health Center, located at the corner of King and Allen Roads in Brownstown.

Testing, counseling and information will be available to take part in the comprehensive screening program, however, appointments are necessary. To register call 479-1420.

A unique feature of this screening is that physicians will be on hand to provide special counseling. Alex Mataverde, M.D., a member of Brownstown Lions and a physician on staff at Outer Drive Hospital, will be on hand to

'Just checking'

Senior citizens in the area will be offered an opportunity through the cooperation of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority to receive free check-ups at several of the PCHA's facilities. The annual screenings have been very popular with the seniors who receive the services free of charge.

answr health questions which participants might have.

Vijay Khanna, M.D., pulmonary specialist, will provide medical counsel for lung problems. In addition, Robert Dickason, D.O., will be conducting colorectal cancer screening. As part of the screening service, Dr. Dickason will be offering free examinations for intestinal problems at his office January 10-14, 1983. (Please call for a separate appointment — 676-5353.

This cooperative effort is one of a series of "Discover Good Health" screenings made possible by a grant awarded to Peoples Community Hospital Authority by the Out-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging.

The program, which is in its second year, has already screened hundreds of area seniors for a variety of health problems and conditions.

VA changes rules for 'older' vets

The Veterans Administration is changing its loan guaranty regulations to make it easier for veterans to buy retirement homes and to participate in local housing programs where there are income restrictions.

Over the past several years, various state and local governments have developed housing programs designed to benefit persons of low and moderate income.

Restrictions, such as rights of first refusal or agreements to forfeit excess sale proceeds in the event of sale are imposed to assure that the program benefits accrue only to the targeted beneficiaries.

Amending these regulations now allows VA to participate in these programs.

The decision to guarantee loans on homes where there are restrictions on the ages of residents or owners will allow VA loans in retirement developments where the program has been of limited value.

It will open up new possibilities to World War II veterans who still have loan entitlement.

The amended regulations apply for both conventional homes and mobile homes when the veteran is using the GI Home Loan program. Details about these changes are available at any VA regional office nationwide.

Local accountant attends seminar on tax laws' impact

Karalee (Kay) Finlin, a professional practicing accountant, who operates an office at 18650 Hannan Road, traveled to the Flint Hyatt Regency Hotel on Sunday to spend three days studying the impact of federal and state tax laws on the preparation of 1982 tax returns.

Heavy attention will be given to examination of all features of the "Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982", the "Subchapter S Revision Act of '82", and the carryover provisions of the "Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981". "Every taxpayer — individual, professional or businessman — will have his 1982 tax return significantly altered by provisions in the three complex tax acts," Mrs. Finlin said.

"My entire attention at the annual tax clinic will center on studies designed to unravel the mysteries of the new tax provisions — especially how they alter the 1040 and other major business returns," she added.

Mrs. Finlin attends monthly meeting of the Southeastern Chapter of Independent Accountants Association of Michigan and the Michigan Chapter of Enrolled Agents to practice before the Internal Revenue Service; also, she attends all their tax clinics and seminars as well as those sponsored by the National Society of Public Accountants, of which she is also a member.

Guest speakers at these sessions are experienced legal counsellors and tax attorneys, other renowned educators that are the very best in the field of tax preparation and accounting services, and such notables as Charles A. Parks, District Director of Michigan Internal Revenue Service and Sydney D. Goodman, Commissioner of Michigan Revenue Department.

The meetings help keep accountants up to date and fully informed on the complex and ever-changing tax laws.

The Independent Accountants Association of Michigan estimates that professional practicing accountants in Michigan process better than one million federal, state and local tax returns. Sixty percent of the association members are enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service.

The Tax Clinic being held in Flint, conducted by the Independent Accountants Association of Michigan, is expected to draw 400-500 professional practicing accountants.

'Make it, take it' is theme of Wick teachers' workshop

Dorothy Weekly and Marilyn Wood were co-chairmen of a Parent Workshop presented by the Romulus teachers on Thursday, November 11 at Wick Elementary School.

Invitations were issued to parents of elementary students throughout the Romulus system and included a list of classes which were to be offered. They included subjects such as how to help your child with homework, listening and remembering, health care and "make-it take-it" where parents actually made learning games they could take home with them.

Each parent was given the opportunity to register for two classes with a scheduled coffee and cookie break between them. Parents received a letter with their class schedule listed. Emphasis was placed on the best way that parents could help their children. Those participating were presented with pencils and notebooks as well as hand-outs from each class paid for by the Romulus Education Association. Wick was chosen because of its accessibility.

Afterwards, each parent was asked to critique the evening so the REA can determine if it was a worthwhile activity and should be repeated. Comments included, "...I felt it was beyond my expectations..." "I received alot of beneficial information to help me understand my children", "I learned a great many ideas to help my child learn to enjoy his homework", "I enjoyed myself and felt it was well worth my time", "It was a very relaxed atmosphere", "I really enjoyed the teachers and their effort and interest they put across to the parents", It was well organized. The materials were excellent and the teachers were very helpful in suggesting new ideas", "I like the many different teaching activities that were offered and the warm, helpful attitude of the teachers".

The only objection was the workshop was not long enough. Many parents wished they could take more than two classes. Every critique returned reported that they would like to participate if the workshop were offered again.

School Board President Dan Bales, and members Ed Wilkerson and Ken Berlinn were in attendance as well as Superintendent William Bedell and Assistant Superintendent Terry LeCesne. Wick School Principal Richard Goode and representatives from Wayne County Intermediate School District were also present. Seventeen teachers volunteered their time to direct the individual class sessions and another seventeen prepared the homemade refreshments.

County transition team set for changeover

Existing members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners have established a transition team comprised of the 15 new commissioners-elect, and authorized $40,000 for legal, financial and research assistance in preparing for the change of government on Jan. 1.

In January, when the new County charter takes effect, new County Executive William Lucas will assume all executive functions, and a Board of Commissioners reduced in number from 27 to 15 will manage all legislative responsibilities. A week ago the Board appropriated some $188,000 for a Lucas transition team.

Immediately following formation of the transition team, the commissioners-elect formed the following three committees:

Personnel and Physical Facilities Committee to recommend on personnel policies, office arrangement equipment, staffing pattern and table of organization for the new Board.

Its members are Arthur M. Carter, from Detroit, Chairman; Kay L. Beard, Inkster; Mary E. Dumas, Livonia; and Jackie L. Currie, John C. Hertel and Bernard N. Kilpatrick, all from Detroit.

Legal Counsel and Rules of Procedures Committee to recommend on committee structure, revised rules of procedure, enactment of ordinances, and legal counsel to be employed.

HURON TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE NO. 82-5

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE ESTABLISHMENT, OPERATION AND CONDUCT OF GUN RANGES, THE LICENSING THEREOF AND TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF

THE TOWNSHIP OF HURON ORDAINS:

Section 1. Definitions

For the purpose of this Ordinance a gun range is defined as a place wherein shotguns of any kind or description are used for exploding cartridges, or projecting shot or missiles of any kind.

Section 2. License Required

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to open, operate or maintain, or cause to be opened, operated or maintained, any gun range as hereinbefore defined, without first obtaining a license to do so as hereinafter provided.

Section 3. Application For License, Requirements

(a) Application for a license to operate and maintain a gun range shall be filed with the Township Clerk on forms to be provided.

(b) Such application shall contain the name and address of the applicant; and if a corporation, the full and accurate corporate name, where and when incorporated, principal place of business, name and address of the resident agent and all coporate officers; and if a partnership, the names and addresses of the members thereof; and if applicant conducts business under a trade or assumed name, the full and complete trade name and the name and address of the person or persons doing business under such name.

(c) Such application shall recite the present or proposed location of the gun range, and have attached thereto a full and complete plan and description for construction, and for controlling shot or missiles, and such other information as this Ordinance, the Township Board or its duly authorized agents and employees, may require.

Section 4. Investigation

The application shall be referred to the Building Official and/or Ordinance Enforcement Officer, who shall make or cause to be made an investigation of the character of the applicant and of the fitness and suitability of the gun range from the standpoint of public safety and compliance with the regulations hereinafter set forth. Upon completion of such investigation the Building Official and/or Ordinance Enforcement Officer shall present said application, plans, and other documents to the Township Board with their recommendations.

Section 5. Issuance of License

Upon receipt of the application from the Building Official and/or Ordinance Enforcement Officer, with their recommendations, the Township Board shall approve or reject said application or take such other action as shall be appropriate. In the event the license is granted, the Township Clerk shall issue same upon the payment of a fee of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per year for each gun range to be operated. All such licenses shall be for a period of one (1) year and shall expire on the 31st of December next following the date of issuance. The license shall be renewed annually thereafter, upon the recommendation of the Building Official and/or Ordinance Enforcement Officer after an investigation to determine that there is continuing compliance with this Ordinance and all other Ordinances, codes and regulations of the Township of Huron. The license shall be conspicuously exhibited upon the premises licensed thereunder.

Section 6. Liability Insurance

No license shall be issued by the Township Clerk until the applicant shall deposit a policy or certificate of liability insurance acceptable to and approved by the Township Attorney, insuring and indemnifying the applicant against injuries and death to persons and property resulting from the operation of said gun range. The said policy shall further contain a clause obligating the insurance company issuing same to give thirty (30) days written notice to the Township Clerk before cancellation of the same. In case said policy of insurance is cancelled and not replaced, the license shall forthwith be cancelled at the expiration of said thirty (30) day period.

Section 7. Regulations

All gun ranges shall comply with the following regulations:

(a) The firing point shall be so constructed as to prevent any shotgun from being pointed at an elevation or in a direction that would carry the shot or other missile beyond the shotgun range.

(b) The area in which the gun target area is located shall be no closer than three hundred (300) feet from the property line of the licensee.

(c) No owner, operator or attendant shall permit any person under the influence of intoxicants or narcotics to handle or discharge any of the aforementioned firearms.

(d) No persons shall be allowed between the firing point and the target area when the range is in operation, and the licensee shall construct such fences, barriers or visible markers, as in the opinion of the Building Department will adequately prevent persons from accidentally straying thereon.

(e) The gun range shall be attended at all times by the licensee or his employees so as to adequately supervise the range.

(f) Shooting shall be permitted only between the hours of 10 A.M. and 6 P.M. on Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and shall not be permitted at any other time.

(g) In addition to the foregoing, the Township Board is hereby empowered to make such further regulations not inconsistent herewith, which may from time to time be required for the protection of the public safety and welfare.

Section 8. Revocation And Suspension Of License

The Township Board may at any time revoke or suspend the license granted under this Ordinance for failure to comply with the terms of this Ordinance, or any of the laws or regulations relating to the use of gun ranges.

Section 9. Penalties

Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall upon conviction be fined in an amount not to exceed Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or imprisoned for a term not to exceed ninety (90) days, or both.

Section 10. Repeal

All ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed.

Section 11. Severability

If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this Ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 12. Effective Date

This Ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its publication.

CERTIFICATION

I hereby certify that the foregoing constitutes a true and complete copy of Ordinance No. 82-5 duly adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Huron, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, at a Regular meeting held on the 22nd day of November, 1982.

I further certify that the following members were present: Ashby, Carey, Gamber, Geierman, Puskar and Sullivan; and that the motion to adopt was made by Gamber and supported by Puskar.

2 in Memoriam
In Memory of William Krueger who passed away 1 year ago December 5th. The parting was so sudden. We often wonder why. The hardest part of all. Was we never said good-bye. They say that time heals all sorrow. And helps us to forget. But time has proven so far. How much we miss you yet. To your resting place we visit. And place the flowers with care. But no one knows the heartache. When we turn and leave you there.

For the sophisticated taste . . .

And holiday entertaining as well as gift giving problems can be solved for the more sophisticated tastes at Newburgh Party Store. Featuring a wide selection of wines, both domestic and imported, owner Nazar Yaro is offering 10 percent off the regular price of all his wines. He contends that his wines are all at cost or below cost during his specials and he is carrying more than 500 types in stock.

And, Newburgh Party Store, located at 2904 Newburgh in Wayne, is also featuring more than 500 liquors for entertaining and gifting this season. Shown here are just a few of the more popular gift liqueurs and liquors available at reasonable prices.

"We think we have the largest selection around," Yaro noted. He's also offering free delivery on any order more than $75 and 15 percent off any case price on his wines.

Hours are from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays and from 9 a.m. until 11 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Sundays the store is open from 11 a.m. until 8 p.m. Yaro is also offering a great entertainment book featuring food and drink recipes to all customers at no cost.

Don't wait 'til this happens to you!

For her...

That special gift for her is sure to be found, our shoppers report with glee, at Stuart's on Michigan Avenue in Wayne. In business for more than 38 years, this is a shop that knows exactly what women are looking for today.

Owner Marvin Kahn suggested this beautiful velour robe in a wine color for the very special woman on any Christmas list. This floor-length, cozy fashion features a ruffle at the neck and an asymmetrical side zipper. All this fashion is regularly priced at $55, but is discounted during the holiday sale now in progress at the store.

Everything in the shop, according to Kahn, including Levi's, is priced at 10 to 50 percent off. The shop is open from 9:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. during the week and on Sundays from noon until 5 p.m. Those are holiday hours, cautioned Kahn, and will begin Dec. 6.

Something special...

This is another selection from Stuart's that our shopping crew couldn't resist. This reversible cotton polyester poplin jacket reverses to smokey grey fur on the other side. Designed by Niki, the jacket is off-white and is accented by a rabbit collar. Regularly priced at $160, it is on special now at $128.50 in sizes small, medium and large.

A touch of fantasy...

The personal touch...

And gifts of elegance with a very personal touch are the specialty at Ravencraft gift shop on Wayne Road in Wayne. The new shop, owned by Ken Ravencraft and Richard Nicolls features engraving in glass, plastic and wood. These glass paperweights and sculptures are done with a dentist's drill and range in price from $25 to $50.

The personalized keychains are sold at $4 to $6.50 and usually take one day for monogramming. The shop also features desk sets, lighters and bracelets, all of which can be personalized.

Also featured at the new shop are monogrammed Christmas ornaments from $1.50 to $3 each and large and small wooden signs priced by inch and by the number of letters needed.

A really unique way to surprise the person "with everything."

Fantasy... that seems to be something everyone, of any age, appreciates this year and our shoppers discovered a veritable treasure trove at The Browsersy, located on Southfield Road in Allen Park. This tiny warehouse of delights would be worth any amount of travel. Unique gift ideas swell the store from floor to ceiling.

For instance, these adoptees are awaiting just the right parents to take them from the shop to loving homes. Each doll is an original and comes fully equipped with adoption papers from the "Cabbage Patch."

Waiting now are Gina Colette, Hiram Tobias, Sheila Nicole, Emma Elsie and another crib full of "preemies", each with a distinctive moniker.

The dolls are created by Xavier Roberts and some are hand signed by their creator. These dolls are collectors items and will be treasured and loved forever. The adoption fees range from $125 to $140, and the infants wear regular sized baby clothes.

The Browsersy has been in operation for two years but moved to the Allen Park location in March. Store hours are from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and from noon until 4 p.m. on Sundays.

And yes, they do have the delightful ceramic E.T. statues along with a full line of Hallmark items. Don't miss this one, our shoppers advise.

Sometimes even Santa runs out of Gift Ideas

And when he does he knows where to go for a little extra assistance. We carry a full selection of unique and one-of-a-kind items.

Music, music, music...

For the family... a gift that will provide years of pleasure and entertainment, that's the offer of Pat Feight at Yamaha Keyboard World.

This player piano comes equipped with a tape recorder providing true fidelity sound... and the cassettes available include computer analyzed original duplications from George Shearing, Scott Joplin and many other famous artists. According to store owner Pat Feight, the cassettes are available "in just about everything."

And while the keys aren't dancing up and down as the tape is playing, the piano can be used in the standard manner for the musicians in the family. This fantastic gift item was priced at $4,500 but has been reduced for the holidays to $3,500... now that's a bargain.

and more music

And, also at Yamaha is a wide selection of the new portable keyboards. Starting at $99.95 the boards will play musical games to teach sound and tone recognition and also provide great music. Like having a band right in your hand, assured Pat Feight. Many come with a three-way operation and many enhancements to make music "the easy way."

Yamaha Keyboard World has been on Michigan Avenue in Wayne for 6 years. Store hours are 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily, 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday and from 1 p.m. until 5 Sundays.
